NEWS OF THE DAY.

—London has forty-eight Roman Catholic churches.

—Fashion calls for elaborately trimmed underclothing.

—Black cashmere dresses are more stylish than colored suits.

—The "Berenice" jacket is a nobby street independent garment.

—Saturday's admissions to the Centennial Exhibition were 78,760.

—There are about 3,647 public libraries in the United States, with 12,276,964 volumes.

—A large number of consumptives call daily at Manhattan Market in New York for cups of fresh blood.

—The Tennessee spiritualists in session at Memphis, have adopted a constitution and elected permanent officers.

—Unmarried girls in Vestula have to wear little bells on their ankles, and the eloping business is not good in that locality.

—The French of Metz will not associate with the Germans, and each nation has its own places of amusement and social resort.

—Geo. William Birney and his Son Arthur B., have been appointed Attorney and Assistant Attorney for the District of Columbia.

—A very elegant bridal suit, just completed for a Washington belle, is composed of sea foam tinted satin, and adorned with pointed lace.

—Lyster, Bennett & Co., wholesale stationers, of Montreal, Canada, failed on Saturday. Liabilities $50,000. Assets nominally the same.

—Michael Dougherty, the outgoing Trustee of Indianapolis township, Ind., proves to be behind in his accounts $11,000. He is a "reformer."

—Science has discovered that the yellow toy balloons sold to children are poisonous, the coloring matter consisting largely of chromate of lead.

—The report of a proposed Fenian raid into Canada, telegraphed from St. Albans, Vt., on Friday night, is pronounced to be without foundation.

—The car, machine and carpenter shops of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Company were burned on Saturday night at Great Bend, Pa.

—An Owensboro (Ky.) dispatch says jailer Slaughter, of that place, while feeding prisoners, was knocked down by two, who escaped to the woods. His injuries are serious.

—The printers in the Chronicle office at Washington City, struck on Saturday night, on account of a reduction in the price of composition. Their places were filled by non-Union men.

—When the Rhode Island militia paraded the other day you might hear the officers thunder forth their commands: "Guide right; steady, men; don't push any one over into Connecticut!"

—When three good little boys get together of an afternoon, the chances are that there will be either a fight, a window broken, or some stray dog will have a pan tied to his tail.—N. O. Bulletin.

—"Why didn't you put on a clean collar before you left home?" called out an impertinent young fop to an omnibus driver. "'Cause your mother hadn't sent home my washing," was the extinguishing reply.

—It is now proposed to introduce into Ireland the narrow gauge railway system, being well adapted to many localities there where wide gauge heavy lines would be impracticable or too costly to prove remunerative.

—Troy, N. Y., of course, has the latest wrinkle in babies. A babe, born a short time ago in that city, weighed at its birth seventeen ounces. It has no eyes. The places usually occupied by these organs are marked by wrinkles.

—The wave of Conservatism which has swept over Europe appears to be receding. The Prussian elections have given the Liberals a plurality in the new Chamber of Deputies, while the Conservatives are left in a hopeless minority.

—The jury in the libel suit of McKay against the publishers and editors of the Philadelphia Times, was discharged on Saturday afternoon after having been locked up for just a week. They were no nearer agreeing than when they first retired.

—There were shouts for "Tilden" as the crowd filed by the Everett House last night, and it was an inspiring sight to see John Morrissey lift him up high enough to be visible. In the arms of the burly gladiator Uncle Sammy looked like a gutta percha baby.—Brooklyn Argus.

—The Mohammedans of Bombay held a large meeting on September 24, at which they adopted an address to the Queen praying her to withhold her consent from any proposal for the dismemberment of the Turkish Empire. The Mohammedan newspapers of India express great sympathy with the Turks.

—When does Sam Tilden propose to return to Albany and attend to the business the people pay him $10,000 a year to look after? He hasn't been there for two months, but has been in New York oiling his political machine. Is this the kind of reform he would put in the White House?

—Governor Hendricks addressed a Democratic meeting at Richmond, Ind., on Wednesday night last. One of the Reformers present picked his pocket, taking pocket-book and contents. We told Thomas he could'nt trust that crew; but then the crew can't trust Thomas. So honors are easy.

—A commission of physicians, appointed by the Boston Board of Health, reports that 1,500,000 gallons of water were sold in that city in 1874, as milk, for which nearly $500,000 was paid. In one instance thirty-four cases of typhoid fever in twenty-four families were traced to the use of milk mixed with water drawn from a well near a cesspool.

—Gilmore has sued the Tradesmen's Industrial Institute of Pittsburgh for about $2,000, the balance due on the amount guaranteed him and his band for coming there to play. They've had his notes, he says, and now he's ready to take theirs for any reasonable period, if properly indorsed.—N. Y. Commercial.

—The Postoffice Department in New York city promises to play a conspicuous part in bringing Democratic registration frauds to light. Aspirants or candidates for office, true to the usual custom, are sending invitations and documents through the mails addressed to persons whose names are taken from the registration lists. The carriers' inability to find the person at once discloses the fraud.

—In the United States Circuit Court at Richmond on Saturday, Judge Bond presiding, Ezekiel Myers, recently convicted of illicit distilling in Petersburg, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine, and John Mulholland, porter of the steamer Wyanoke, who was convicted of a violation of the Internal Revenue laws, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $1,000.

—A beautiful ball dress, just arrived from Worth's, has the train skirt disposed in dark green velvet; the drapery is of Lyons silk, a faint green with a flush of yellow veiling the surface. The sides are adorned with richly embroidered bands and flutings of lace. The back drapery is very ample, and made bouffant, quite low. The corsage is cut low both front and back, the sleeves only reaching to the elbows.

—There is a fair prospect that from 150,000 to 160,000 votes may be polled in this city on election day. The Republicans, with all the Liberals against them, polled in 1872 54,000; the Democrats 78,000. The Republicans will poll this year fully 60,000, and the Democrats 95,000; they may reach 100,000 through frauds. This would give them 40,000 majority in the city. The Republicans can stand this easy and win.—N. Y. Commercial.

—New Orleans Bulletin: After he had gone in the morning she found on the floor a little piece of paper that had dropped out of his pocket. It read:

4 rounds of best Acme	$2 00
1 round S. O. P. brand	75
1 Pocket Pistol, Otard Dupuy	1 00

And the poor woman went into hysterics, thinking her darling husband had gone off to commit suicide, and had carried enough rounds of ammunition to make the work certain.

—The Czar Alexander receives, in round numbers, $25,000 a day income; the Turkish Sultan, $18,000; the Emperor of Austria, $10,000; the Emperor of Germany, $8,200; the King of Italy, $6,440; the Queen of England, $6,270; the King of the Belgians, $1,643; the President of the French Republic, $500; the President of the United States, $140, and yet, notwithstanding the latter fact, there are hundreds of good citizens who aspire to be President of this great country.

—A swindler in Chicago, during the recent great fair, dressed in homespun clothes, made the acquaintance of farmers at hotels and fooled them in a new way. After inviting a victim to take a walk, he remarked that strangers were plenty, and they had better leave their money with the clerk. He displayed a well-filled wallet, the victim handed over his, and both were tied together and left with the clerk, the swindler taking the check, with which he soon returned and got all the money.

—The jury in the case of Joannah Turbin, colored, indicted for the murder of her husband at Washington City on the 5th of July last, and who took the body and hid it in an ash pile, came into Court on Saturday with a verdict of guilty, accompanied with a petition to the President signed by the full panel to commute the death penalty to imprisonment for life. The Judge presiding, as also the District Attorney, expressed their intention to give their personal attention to furthering the object of the petition, which will also receive the signatures of the prisoner's counsel.

DEMOCRATIC KNAVERY.

A Stupendous Fraud Unearthed in Philadelphia.

Desperate Attempt to Violate the Election Laws—50,000 Bogus Tax Receipts Captured—Henry Marcus, a Leading Democrat, Arrested and Placed Under Heavy Bonds—Warrant out for Sam Josephs.

PHILADELPHIA, October 28.—Henry Marcus, Treasurer of the Democratic City Executive Committee, and ex-member of Select Council from the Fourth ward, was arrested to-night in a carriage as he was leaving the Democratic headquarters, and taken to police headquarters in the vehicle. The officers seized two large bundles, which, upon being opened, were found to contain blank paper, but water lined with the words "Personal tax, 1876"—paper similar to that on which the tax receipts for the present year are printed. Sam Josephs, a candidate for the Legislature, is said to have carried the bundles out of the building and placed them in the carriage, and for his arrest a warrant has been issued. Marcus was put under $5,000 bail for a hearing on Monday on a charge of attempting to violate the election laws of the city. Marcus denies all knowledge of the contents of the bundles.

How the Scheme was Discovered.

PHILADELPHIA, October 28.—The police to-night captured paper for issuing 50,000 bogus tax receipts in this city in the hands of two prominent members of the Democratic party. It seems that a few days ago Hon. Christian Kneass, Chairman of the Republican City Committee, to whom the credit for unearthing this great fraud is due, was informed that the Democracy intended to flood the city with bogus tax receipts, but that the great trouble was to procure paper with the water-marks "Personal tax, 1876," on it. At last the paper was obtained, and to-night, while the rank and file of the party were giving Gen. McClellan, of moth powder fame, a reception, a wagon came out of Griswold's alley, near Sixth and Bainbridge streets, in the Fourth ward. This was followed by Detective Harry Weyle. The carriage was driven to the headquarters of the Democratic State Central Committee, No. 1,014 Walnut street. Here Henry Marcus, ex-member of the City Council from the Fourth ward, alighted. Soon Samuel Josephs, a leader of the Democracy, and candidate for the Legislature in the Twenty-eighth District, appeared. In a short time Marcus and Josephs appeared, coming from the headquarters each carrying a large bundle. The bundles were placed in the carriage, and Marcus got in. Josephs went up Walnut street. Detective Weyle and a couple of officers followed in another carriage, and on Locust street, below Tenth, overhauled the carriage containing the bogus receipts. The party were driven to Police Headquarters, where it was found that it was a great capture, the receipts having the required water-mark, and could not be detected from the genuine. Marcus was given a hearing, and held in $5,000 for violating the election laws. A warrant was issued for Josephs, and he will be arrested before morning. The driver of the carriage said the receipts were to be taken to the printing-house of Gilleen & Nagle, in Fifth street below Walnut. This capture prevents the consummation of the greatest fraud which had ever been attempted here, and shows where the party of reform intended to get their votes.

HORRIBLE OUTRAGE.

A Six Year Old Girl Violated by a Villain of Sixty, and then Thrown Into a Vault to Conceal the Crime—The Victim Rescued—The Brute Arrested and Identified.

PHILADELPHIA, October 28.—Last night a little girl six years old, daughter of a man named Rothecmick, living on Poplar street, was found in a vault on her father's premises. She was rescued, and after regaining her consciousness related that an old man, while she was playing on the street, had enticed her into the cellar, and after violating her had thrown her into the vault. Her description of the man led to the arrest of Ishmael Jones, an old man of sixty, living on Carpenter street. The prisoner was given a hearing early this morning, and was fully identified by the child. He was committed for trial without bail. During the hearing the mother of the child sprang upon Jones, caught him by the throat, and bore him down. She was removed with great difficulty. So great was the excitement among the people and so violent their demonstrations that the officers could hardly remove Jones to prison in safety.

Terrific Hurricane.

NEW ORLEANS, October 28.—Captain Bremner, of the British steamship Chilian, from Kingston, Jamaica, reports the severest hurricane ever experienced at Grand Cayman Island, lasting from the 17th to the 21st. One hundred and seventy houses and a large number of fruit trees were destroyed. A portion of the island was submerged and many cattle washed away. The inhabitants are in a destitute condition, having lost all their provisions. All provisions that could be spared from the Chilian were given them. Captain Bremner reports boarding the Norwegian bark Niord, from Porto Rico for New Orleans, with fifty-five sacks of coffee, wrecked during the hurricane on Grand Cayman. The vessel was badly wrecked. The cargo was entirely washed out. The bodies of two of the crew were found alongside. It is learned from islanders that the bark's papers had been taken possession of by the magistrates, but could learn nothing about the fate of the balance of the crew.

Ministers Mistaken for U. S. Marshals.

ST. LOUIS, October 28.—The Globe Democrat's special, of yesterday's date, says three Methodist ministers, while riding a circuit in Pope county, Arkansas, were shot from the brush yesterday morning by two illicit distillers, named Hughes and Hale. It is believed Hughes and Hale mistook them for revenue officers and marshals coming to arrest them, as warrants are now out for their arrest for illicit distilling. One of the ministers was mortally wounded, and died two hours after being shot. The other two were seriously, if not fatally, wounded. There are a large number of illicit distillers in that part of the State, and six of these parties have been convicted during this week in the United States Court of this district.

Sports on the Turf.

BALTIMORE, October 28.—At Pimlico today the handicap race for all ages, 1¼ miles, was won by Warlock. Time 2:13¾. The second race was for the Breckenridge stakes for three year olds, 2 miles, and was won by Vigil. Time 3:37¼. The third race was for the Compensation purse, mile heats. The first heat was won by Red Coat. Time 1:45¾. Partnership won the second and third heats and race. Time 1:47¼ and 1:50¾. The match race between Lawrence's Resolute and P. Lorillard's Shirley for $600 a side, distance 2 miles, was won easily by Shirley. Time 3:44½. The steeple chase for gentlemen riders finished the racing of the day and the meeting. Jackson was an easy winner. Time 3:27½.

Marine News.

LONDON, October 28.—The steamships Abyssinia and Cornwall, from New York, and Illinois, from Philadelphia, have arrived out.

BALTIMORE, October 28.—Arrived—The steamship Undutsch, from Bremen.

NEW YORK, October 28.—Arrived—The steamships Wisconsin, from Liverpool, and Elysia, from London.

QUEENSTOWN, October 29.—The steamers Alert and Discovery, of the Arctic expedition, have arrived.

LONDON, October 30.—Steamships Frisia, from New York, and Peruvian, from Montreal, have arrived out.

NEW YORK, October 29.—Arrived—The steamer Spain, from Liverpool.

San Francisco's Water Supply.

ST. LOUIS, October 29.—Richard Ives, of San Francisco, arrived here last Friday, and is negotiating with the Vulcan Iron Works for forty thousand tons of iron plates to be converted into pipe for conducting water from the Sierra Nevadas to San Francisco, a distance of one hundred and twenty miles. The contract will amount to about two million dollars.

Yellow Fever Deaths.

SAVANNAH, October 29.—The total number of interments to-day was nine—yellow fever five. Two of the deaths from fever were refugees who returned to the city last week. Absentees are urged not to return until frost.

AN OUTRAGEOUS SLANDER.

The Chief of the French Commission to the Centennial Exposition Charges the Americans with Setting Fire to the Buildings and Robbery.

NEW YORK, October 28.—A Paris dispatch says the American colony resident there is greatly exercised over the publication of a letter written to a friend in Germany by M. Du Sommeard, Chief of the French Commissioners to the Centennial Exposition. The letter is summarized as follows:

"Accounts transmitted to me from my deputy are of a most grievous character. The Americans themselves set fire to buildings containing empty cases of French goods, hoping to destroy French merchandise and articles for exhibition stored in the galleries. A second attempt of the same kind has been made within the last month. Worse than all, the police employed by the Centennial Board are purposely chosen from the worst and most degraded elements in the United States. The keepers are thieves without exception. They steal openly from exhibitors in the French department and all others. There exists an understanding between these knaves and the judges themselves to give them the signal when the discreet moment has arrived to begin the pillage."

This outrageous epistle concludes with a vile attack upon the virtue and manners of American women, which cannot be transmitted by cable or reproduced in print.

A Flat Contradiction.

NEW YORK, October 29.—The Herald has the following:

PARIS, October 29.—The following letter will appear in the Figaro to-morrow:

"To the Editor of the Figaro: SIR—I have read with profound astonishment the letter of M. DuSommeard to his friend in Vienna. I was attached to the Commission sent to the Philadelphia Exposition, and I must say that in that capacity, as well as a Frenchman, I received delicate attention at the hands of the American people. I believe that all the Commissioners will say the same. The accusation that Americans purposely set fire to cases of goods in the French Department is so monstrous that I cannot allow it to pass without a flat contradiction. I was in America when that accident occurred, and no people regretted it more than the Americans. There was no ill way. I will answer for it, and if the fire had been the work of an incendiary the whole country would have proclaimed its indignation. M. Du Sommeard should have drawn his information from a less partial source before accusing a people with an act so vile. Once more my duty as a member of the French Commission compels me to protest against the imputations cast upon the American people by M. Du Sommeard. Accept, Mr. Editor, the assurance of my distinguished consideration.

"MARQUIS DE TALLEYRAND.

"October 28th, 1876."

The indignation caused among Americans here by M. Du Sommeard's letter is intense, and will probably find vent in a public demonstration of some kind.

Minister Washburne's Action.

PARIS, October 20.—Mr. Washburne, the American Minister, has drawn the attention of the Duke de Cazes to the calumnious insult contained in a letter attributed to M. Du Sommeard, Chief Commissioner of France to the Centennial Exposition. He did not, however, demand the recall of M. Du Sommeard, or any other measure, but confined himself to pointing out the matter, leaving the French Minister of Foreign Affairs to determine what reparation was due to the United States. The manner in which the Duke received Mr. Washburne's representations leaves no doubt but that complete reparation will be afforded and the affair will be satisfactorily arranged.

The Letter Said to be Apocryphal.

A later telegram reports that M. Ozenne, acting in the name of the Minister of Commerce, after conferring with the Duke De Cazes, telegraphed on Saturday evening to M. DuSommeard, asking him, before rigorous measures are adopted, to state whether the objectionable letter is authentic. It is said that M. DuSommeard has replied that it is apocryphal. The affair has caused much excitement among Americans in Paris, and has called for the following official note, which is published this morning: "A letter, speaking offensively of a great nation holding friendly relations with France, has been published in a foreign journal, and reproduced in a French newspaper. The letter has been attributed to a high functionary representing France at Philadelphia, but the Government hopes it is apocryphal. The Government has, however, demanded an explanation from the person concerned, and is now awaiting his reply, in order to come to a decision in the matter."

Tennessee Officials Who Endorse Tilden's Letter.

NASHVILLE, October 29.—The following was telegraphed to New York to-night:

Hon. A. S. Hewitt, New York City:

The following officials of Tennessee heartily endorse Gov. Tilden's letter on war claims: James D. Porter, Governor; Chas. N. Gibbs, Secretary of State; A. M. Morrow, Treasurer; James L. Gaines, Comptroller; John W. Childress, Chairman Democratic State Executive Committee; W. B. Bates, A. James, Democratic Electors of the State at large; D. M. Key, U. S. Senator; W. R. McFarland, Member of Congress; Wm. Cullom, Democratic candidate for Congress; G. F. Dibberell, Member of Congress; H. T. Riddle, Member of Congress; John M. Bright, Member of Congress; John F. House, Member of Congress; W. C. Whitthorne, Member of Congress; W. Caldwell, Member of Congress; H. C. Young, Member of Congress—besides the entire Democratic party of the State, whose endorsement I could get if time permitted.

JNO. W. CHILDRESS,
Chairman State Executive Committee.

A Duel with Knives Between Two Women.

LOUISVILLE, October 29.—An extraordinary duel between two negro women took place this morning in Louisville. Annie Simmons and Mary Baules, having quarreled, resolved to fight a duel with knives. They met by agreement in front of a Baptist church at night, no witnesses being present, and there fought fiercely for one-half hour. Baules was stabbed and gashed horribly in six different places, her right eye being cut out. Simmons was only slightly hurt, and has been arrested. The cause of the trouble is not known.

Stokes Released.

AUBURN, N. Y., October 28.—Edward S. Stokes, convicted of shooting James Fisk, Jr., was released this morning from the State prison, his term of sentence having expired. A great crowd was at the railroad depot to see Stokes, who, with his friends, started eastward.

Registration in New York.

NEW YORK, October 28.—The registration of voters for four days in 1876, in this city, aggregates 182,987, as against 144,838 last year, and 249,010 in 1874.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.

A Bloody Woodland Ravine.

The Oil City Derrick says that on last Thursday afternoon James McMahon, a resident of Sileryville, and an employe in the Imperial Refinery, shot himself accidentally while out hunting. He had fired his gun at a blue jay, and missing the bird, hastily snatched a loaded revolver from his breast pocket to make sure of his game. In some manner the pistol was discharged, probably by the hammer or trigger catching in the linning of his coat, and the ball entered his left breast near the region of the heart. He died within an hour. The most remarkable fact connected with this melancholy case is the circumstance that McMahon was the fifth man who has been shot in this locality. Six years ago David Wingard was killed not far from the scene of the late accident, three years after Jacob Wingard and Lew Wallace, a colored man, gave up the ghost; last year, the 18th of September, John Wingard was added to the list of victims, while Thursday James McMahon ended the sad catalogue of casualties for the present. No wonder the inhabitants propose calling that "Bloody Run" and a more proper name for that deadly locality could not be found.

The Pennsylvania Transportation Co.

The Oil City Derrick of Saturday says: "The uncertainty in regard to the condition of the Pennsylvania Transportation Company still continues. It seems that the meeting held Thursday was for the purpose of investigating the business of the upper division, which was found to be satisfactory. The over issue, it appears, has been made by the river division, for investigating which a meeting has been called for to-day.

We have talked with quite a number of the stockholders, all of whom seem confident that the affairs of the company will be satisfactorily adjusted and the paper of full value again ere long. The confidence of the trade, however, is considerably impaired, 5,000 barrels of pipage paid and 5,000 barrels of spot having been offered on 'Change to-day for $10,000."

—Mlle. Bernhardt, the successor of Rachel on the French stage, has a face so white and thin, that with a little art it may look wasted, weird eyes, a voice that can take tones of hopelessness, and an expression of naive simplicity. Her figure is so slight and long that it has been the theme of countless bad jokes in the comic papers ever since its owner has been a celebrated person. Mlle. Bernhardt has turned it to excellent account, having had the happy thought by her style of dress to emphasize the physical peculiarity instead of trying to overcome it.

SECOND EDITION

FOREIGN NEWS.

The War in Turkey.

The Inhabitants of Deligrad Ordered to Leave.

THE SERVIAN ARMY IN A PRECARIOUS POSITION.

A Narrative of the Arctic Expedition.

THE WAR.

Servian Cowardice.

LONDON, October 28.—A dispatch from Belgrade confirms the statement that self-wounding is again becoming frequent among the Servians. During the fight at Krevet a distinguished officer brought half of a Russian battalion to the front, saying he was compelled to leave the other half behind to prevent the Servians from running away.

The Servian Cabinet Difficulty.

BELGRADE, October 28.—The Servian Cabinet difficulty is in a fair way of being settled. It is probable that Nicolish will consent to retain the portfolio of Minister of War.

A telegram from the Minister of the Interior at Deligrad to Prime Minister Ristics, in reply to an inquiry, says the Turks have not taken Djunis.

The Peace Negotiations.

LONDON, October 28.—The article published in an official form in this morning's Post, explanatory of the latest phase of the negotiations on the Eastern question, a portion of which was sent to the United States, also says: If an armistice is agreed upon, then comes the question of conference. Russia objects to Turkish participation therein. It may be assumed that this refers solely to the position of a power deliberating on its own case. Obviously, if six powers meet to discuss recommendations to be made to a seventh, there is something anomalous in giving the latter the casting vote in their decisions. But it is impossible for a moment to consent to the exclusion of Turkey from the European system, of which, in virtue of the treaty of Paris, she forms a part. It ought to be practicable to find a method by which a representative of the Porte may sit in a conference so as to obviate this difficulty. Before a conference is summoned the questions of its basis and objects, which might occasion protracted and dangerous debate, should by unanimous agreement be reduced to the simplest terms, which may be stated thus: "The basis of the conference is the maintenance of the independence and integrity of the Ottoman Empire. The object is the amelioration of the condition of the Christian subjects of the Sultan." This basis could not alarm Turkey regarding her sovereign rights. This object is one which Russia professed alone to have in view. We are not without foundation for the hope that the solution here foreshadowed may be happily effected.

The Pall Mall Gazette takes quite a hopeful view of the peace prospects.

CONSTANTINOPLE, October 28.—An extraordinary council of Ministers was held on Thursday to consider the armistice question. The German, Russian, Austrian and Italian Embassadors conferred together.

LONDON, October 30.—A telegram from Paris says private advices from Constantinople represent that the French and German ambassadors have received instructions to support the proposals for a six weeks' armistice.

A special from Berlin to the Russian organ Lenodorf, at Brussels, declares that the triple alliance cannot be shaken, and adds that in the event of a conference, Russia will energetically uphold therein the programme of pacification originated by England.

The Servians in a Precarious Position.

A Belgrade dispatch reports that General Tchernayeff has ordered the inhabitants to evacuate Deligrad. An eye witness just arrived from Deligrad describes the position of Tchernayeff's army as follows: The centre, under Depreyratovich, occupies the heights of Djunis. The right, under Horvatorich, is behind Schliegovater, and the left, under Popovich, occupies Alexinatz. On the whole, the Servian army is in a precarious position.

Turks Retreating.

RAGUSA, October 28.—Dervish Pasha has withdrawn from Podgoritza to the Groudy district, in the rear of Palatka. The surrender of Medun to the Montenegrins has produced a strong impression in Albania. The Montenegrins have liberated Albanian prisoners taken during the recent fighting.

Sensational Rumor.

LONDON, October 30.—A Belgrade dispatch contains a sensational statement that a Russian force, with the consent of Germany and Austria, and the co-operation of Roumania, will enter Servia, and that operations will probably commence to-day.

Operations Stopped by the Turks.

LONDON, October 30.—A dispatch to the Standard, dated Nisch, Saturday, reports that all operations on the part of the Turks have been stopped since Monday. Rain prevents the troops from marching.

Accident to Tchernayeff.

A Belgrade telegram to the Standard says Tchernayeff fell from his horse and is confined to his bed. He seems to be apprehensive of disaster, and has warned the inhabitants of all villages in the rear of Deligrad to leave. The state of the Servian army is indescribably distressing. No force has undergone such suffering since the retreat from Moscow.

The Armistice Question.

LONDON, October 30.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times telegraphs that Gen. Ignatieff, at a private audience, has informed the Sultan that if the armistice were accorded Russia would be content to submit the question of autonomy to a conference of the powers. The correspondent remarks that Russia certainly wants to exclude Turkey from the conference, but as Austria is likely to persist in opposing any conference at all, this part of Russia's proposals probably will not much embarrass Turkey.

The Times' Belgrade telegram confirms the report that Gen. Tchernayeff has been disabled. It points to the orders for non-contestants to quit Deligrad and neighborhood as exceedingly significant.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Arctic Expedition.

LONDON, October 28.—The British Arctic expedition brought home a specimen of wheat deposited by the American steamer Polaris while on her Arctic voyage. Capt. Nares, commander of the expedition, has sent a telegram to the Admiralty, containing the following additional particulars of the voyage:

"The Polar Sea is never navigable. The ordinary ice averages eighty feet in thickness. Animal life and the northerly migration of birds ends south of Cape Columbia. A memorial tablet was erected to Captain Hall, of the Polaris expedition, at Polaris bay. Esquimaux traces cease on the west shore in latitude 81.52, whence they cross to Greenland. The impracticability of reaching the North Pole was proved. All the neighboring lands were examined."

The telegram confirms all the details of the expedition transmitted to the United States.

LONDON October 30.—A narrative of the Arctic expedition is published. It relates that after first encountering ice the expedition was detained several days in Port Payer. It started thence on August 8th, but before reaching the shore of Gunnell Land the vessels were caught in an ice pack. After this the progress northward was an incessant struggle through chance openings made in the ice by the wind and current, the channel through which the ships roved constantly closing behind them. The Discovery wintered in a well sheltered harbor on the west side of Hall's Basin, a few miles north of Polaris Bay. The Alert pushed forward and rounded the northeast point of Grant's Land, but instead of finding, as expected, a continuous coast a hundred miles toward the north, she found herself on the border of an extensive sea, with impenetrable ice on every side, and no harbor. The floating masses of thick Polar ice had, in meeting, pressed up quantities of intermediate ice into blocks frequently a mile in diameter, and varying in height from ten to fifty feet. Obstacles of this kind destroyed all hopes of reaching the Pole by sledges. Before the attempt was made the sledge party was obliged to make a road with pickaxes nearly half the distance it traveled. As it was always necessary to drag the sledge loads by installments, the party really traversed two hundred and seventy-six miles, although it only progressed seventy-three. All the cairns erected by the Polaris expedition were visited. At the boat depot in Newman's Bay a chronometer was found in perfect order. Wheat left by the Polaris was successfully grown aboard the ship. When at Polaris Bay the Discovery hoisted the American flag and fired a salute. A brazen tablet, with the following inscription, was fixed on the grave of Captain Hall: "Sacred to the memory of Captain Hall, of the Polaris, who sacrificed his life in the advancement of science, this tablet is erected by the British Polar expedition, who, following his footsteps, have profited by his experience." Two sailors of the Greenland sledge party were buried near Captain Hall's grave. The sufferings of the sledge parties from scurvy were frightful. The expedition under Markham and Parr, which endeavored to reach the Pole, consisted of seventeen persons. Nine became utterly helpless and had to be carried on sledges. Three could barely walk, and were unable to render assistance.

The Post announces that Captain Cameron will not at present resume his explorations. The expiration of his furlough obliges him to resume service in the navy.

Pan-Anglican Synod.

Nearly every bishop to whom an invitation to attend the Pan-Anglican Synod has been addressed has either accepted or replied. Some of the most influential American bishops have stipulated that if they attend all subjects of interest and importance shall be perfectly free and open to discussion. The Synod will probably be much occupied with matters affecting the Episcopalian Church in America.

Trial of a Big Gun.

A dispatch from Spezzia says that trials of the one hundred ton Armstrong gun made for the Italian Government were eminently successful. A bolt fired with three hundred and forty-one pounds of powder attained a velocity of 1,500 feet per second, smashed solid wrought iron plates twenty-two inches thick, completely pierced the strong backing and thirty inch skin of the target, the resistance of which is supposed to equal the sides of the great Italian ironclad Duilio, and had enough velocity remaining to have smashed the other side of the ship, and would have carried complete ruin into her interior. An equal charge completely demolished soft steel plates of Schneider manufacture, but did not penetrate the backing, though, it is said, the shock would have so shaken the structure of a vessel like the Duilio as to cause a leak.

GERMANY.

The Elections in Prussia.

BERLIN, October 28.—Complete returns of the election for the Prussian Chamber of Deputies, held yesterday, give the following result: National Liberals, 177; Centre party, 86; Progressists, 66; the various Conservative sections, 70; Poles, 15; Particularists, 5, and 14 of no declared party. The result does not materially change the political attitude of the Chambers.

LITERARY CONVENTION.

Meeting of the Colored Literary Societies.

The first session of the Allegheny County Convention of the colored Literary Societies was held in the Wylie avenue M. E. church, commencing on Thursday afternoon. Delegates representing the Brownsville church Aid, Green street Baptist, and the Avery Mission literary society, of Allegheny city, and the Wylie avenue, Pittsburgh, were present. The meeting was called to order by S. C. Harris, who, on motion of G. S. Woodson, was elected chairman pro tem., and Miss H. Harris secretary. Rev. Mr. Jackson opened the exercises with prayer.

The Committee on Permanent Organization reported the following names for officers, all of whom were unanimously elected: President—Granville S. Woodson, of Pittsburgh. Vice President—G. W. Johnson, of Brown's chapel. Recording Secretary—Miss Sadie Black, of Allegheny. Corresponding Secretary—Miss Lizzie Pulpress, of Avery Mission.

The Business Committee reported the following resolution in relation to honorary membership:

WHEREAS, The limited number of delegates from the various societies so expressed in the call of this convention has prevented a large number of enterprising and zealous literary ladies and gentlemen from becoming active members of this Convention; and whereas, their interest in the literary societies and their presence at the meeting of this Convention indicates that they are in sympathy with our noble work and lovers of literary progress; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Convention admit to honorary membership any person recommended by delegates of this body.

In accordance with this Rev. Mr. Jackson and Mr. Frank Johnson, of Allegheny City, were elected honorary members. Among the leading performances of the evening were the address of Rev. J. Mitchell, on "Words," readings by Miss Jackson and an essay on "Missions" by Miss Harris. Prof. Bank's vocal class, and the Brown Chapel Choir furnished excellent music. An evening session was held in Brown's Chapel, Allegheny, which was largely attended. The next meeting will be held on the first Tuesday of April next.

EXPOSITION KNOCK DOWN.

The Buildings Sold for $8,175.

Last Saturday at ten o'clock the Exposition buildings were offered at Sheriff's sale, to satisfy the claims of the mechanics' lien creditors. The principal bidders were Commodore Kountz, Captain Ward, C. H. Love, Major Slagle, and the three creditors who held mechanic's liens on the building, and who bid together. Before the bidding began several parties who were present gave notice that they claimed certain articles in the building, such as stoves, chandeliers, &c. Mr. Slagle, the attorney for the Irwin heirs, also gave notice that the Tradesmen's Industrial Institute had no title to the property, that the Irwin heirs claim the title to the ground on which the building was erected, and that it was built without their consent.

The first bid was five dollars, and was followed rapidly by others until the sum reached five or six thousand dollars, the subsequent bids being raised by a succession of $50 and $25 offers over the preceding ones. The bidders were Jacob H. Miller, for the mechanics' lien creditors; Commodore Kountz, Capt. Wm. Ward, J. F. Slagle, Esq., on the part of the Irwin heirs, and C. H. Love. Mr. Slagle's highest bid was $6,700, his object being to purchase at a reasonable figure and avoid litigation. Capt. Ward's highest bid was somewhere in the neighborhood of $7,000. It was finally knocked down to the lien creditors for $8,175.

The amount realized from the sale will go first to pay the costs in the proceedings, and then to pay the employees of the Institute, who are preferred creditors, and whose claims even come before the liens. These two items will probably exhaust the amount that the building brought. The purchasers state that they intend to arrange the matter in such a way that they can lease the building next year for the purposes of an Exposition.

THE RELIEF FUND.

Contributions to the Zug's Sufferers.

Treasurer Joseph Laurent reports the following additional contributions to the Zug relief fund:

S.), $78.50; Employes of Lewis, Oliver & Phillips (lower mills, Ninth ward, Allegheny), $212.50; Standard Nut Company and employes, $62.55; National Labor Tribune, $40.50; Employes Clinton Iron Works, $123; Employes Dithridge & Co., $72.60; Dithridge & Co., $25.00; total, $5,972.23.

THE BOILER EXPLOSION.

A Correspondent Who Takes the Papers Mildly to Task.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

PITTSBURGH, October 24, 1876.

DEAR SIRS:—The writer of this has been much amused and vexed at the comments of the city press on the late disaster at Zug's mill. It is not to be supposed that reporters and editors are experts in boiler bursting, and the ignorance they display in their comments is excusable from the fact that they don't have much to do with boilers carrying heavy pressure. But to make the matter worse and more absurd they attempt to glorify and heroize the engineer who was found at the throttle when the boilers burst. Let me ask you what good he could have done at the throttle to prevent the catastrophe? The engine would have stopped itself as soon as the explosion occurred, and if he had opened it up the fly-wheel might have centrifugally bursted and done much more damage. There is heroism displayed by a locomotive engineer when he sticks to his throttle-valve during an impending collision, but the circumstances of the Zug case won't heroize. The writer of this thinks he staid around the trottle-valve, or some where else too much, which caused the exploding by his neglect of the boilers. Please don't give us any more quotations editorially from other papers about the heroism of this neglectful man, who says he examined the boilers two minutes before the explosion. Did you ever hear of an explosion that the engineer survived, that he did not say he had plenty of water in the boilers? If you ever did it is more than yours truly has met with in twenty-five years of experience with boilers, and in that time has witnessed the wreck of several. Our Boiler Inspector may not be just correct in his theories of the causes of boiler explosions, but let me tell you one thing, Mr. Editor, that when you are writing on boiler explosions you can safely say that no boilers will produce the terrible explosion similar to Zug's with the right quantity of water in them! They may burst at some weak point from over-pressure, but you can't get such disastrous effects.

Truly yours,
JOHN TODD.

P. S.—Ask somebody who knows about the engineer's statement of 12 inches of water on the flues. To have this amount of water on the flues the boilers would have to be about 60 inches in diameter. Send your reporters to loaf around a boiler yard and see how they are constructed. Would like to write you an article on boilers based on the tests made by the Government and personal observation elsewhere. The drug store man who staid at his post was a brave boy. No comparison in the cases at all. J. T.

[The public has doubtless been as much amused and as severely vexed at the vague theories advanced by persons professing to be engineers as to the causes of boiler explosions, which none of them are able to support by fact, as our worthy correspondent has at the newspaper comments he speaks of. If he will read the comments in the GAZETTE on the subject under consideration he will discover that the circumstances of the case warrant them, the theory of himself and other practical men to the contrary notwithstanding. He may be an engineer or he may not, but his being one does not make him any more competent to pass upon the duties of a Coroner's jury, than a reporter with an ordinary amount of ability. The jury were sworn to investigate the matter and to return such finding as the testimony warranted, and they failed to do it. Our reporter expressed no opinion as to the cause of the explosion, but held that the testimony did not warrant the verdict.

Mr. Burke testified that there was water in the boilers, and the jury having no evidence to the contrary should believe him. Mr. McGeary testified that Mr. Burke was a competent man and the jury had no evidence to the contrary. Our correspondent holds that no engineer who is so unfortunate as to have a boiler explosion and who is fortunate enough to escape with his life will tell the truth about it even though he be under oath. What our correspondent might do under the circumstances, we are unable to say, but Mr. Burke is a man of fact, and we have every reason to believe that he told the truth. It is time enough for practical men, as our correspondent claims to be, to complain at the newspaper comments, when they discover the cause of explosion and provide a remedy.

The licensing of engineers, while it would entail an expense of several thousand dollars on those of our citizens using boilers, with no corresponding benefit except to some officials who might receive increased fees, will not prevent boilers from exploding, for it is a well known fact that nine out of ten of the boilers that have exploded within the last five years have been in charge of licensed engineers, men who the inspectors said were competent.

Our correspondent is disgusted with the hero business, and says that Mr. Burke don't heroize worth a cent. This is another assertion based on theory. Mr. Burke's action in standing by his engine and shutting off the steam, although it accomplished nothing, was not the work of a coward by any means, and was brave and heroic, more manly by far than the conduct of those who in the face of indisputable testimony to the contrary, endeavor to ruin his reputation for the sake of supporting a blind theory.—ED.]

PROFESSIONAL spiritual mediums do not meet with encouragement in England. SLADE, detected in spirit writing, has been severely handled in the Courts, but being safely delivered from the perils and annoyances of civil prosecution, is now arrested under the vagrant act. His ways are evidently not of the spiritual order.

IT is stated that in order to satisfy exhibitors who were not awarded acceptable premiums at Philadelphia, the awards made have been altered to suit their demands. This is unfortunate, as it destroys the value that was attached to prizes delivered. It was extensively proclaimed that in awarding prizes, the Centennial was to be as nearly perfect as human ingenuity could make it. The outcome is certainly unfortunate.

THE importance of the DUDLEY revelations as to the Brady's Bend Iron Works turns on the traits of character TILDEN is thus shown to possess. To inflate the stock till all became worthless, he in the meantime securing bonds,—having unloaded his stock,—belongs to a class of tricky operations not only essentially dishonest, but palpably and grossly so. No person possessed of moral principle could do it,—and the fact that Mr. TILDEN did, proves him to be totally unfit for the Presidency of the United States.

THAT was extremely cruel on the part of the Dispatch, Commercial and GAZETTE in not publishing RICKETSON's speech in full, when he made out three copies of it and sent them to the editors before three o'clock in the afternoon.—Post.

In justice to Mr. RICKETSON, we brand the above from Saturday's Post as a barefaced falsehood, and we believe the author knew it was when he wrote it. The Post should be careful, and go slow, when defaming business men like Mr. RICKETSON. That portion of Mr. RICKETSON's speech as published by the GAZETTE, was reported by our reporter, when delivered in the hall, and the Post scribbler knew it.

WE have received a note complaining of the inactivity of certain Republicans supposed to not have preferred the nomination of Mr. ERRETT. We know nothing as to the truth of the statements, but the fact remains that no Republican should hesitate, whatever his private preferences as to the nomination, to support the regular candidate of the party. We urge this on the ground that it is absolutely important to the welfare of the country that the Republicans should have a majority in the next Congress. No party can maintain its organization if the dissatisfied refuse to support the ticket. We fully believe Mr. ERRETT will be elected, but it should be by a majority that will clearly indicate the strength of Republicanism in the district. Let us stand up to the ticket. There is nothing in the record of the Democratic party that should prompt us to support it.

THE more Mr. TILDEN's letter is considered by the press the more suspicious its declarations become. The basis of the Democratic idea that the people South shall be paid is, that they are loyal now,—their disloyalty having been condoned by the Government. The idea is, therefore, that being loyal, there are no "disloyal" persons pressing claims. Were not Mr. TILDEN convicted of escaping the meaning and spirit of his promises by technicalities this would not amount to much, his promises being broad enough, if their spirit and not the letter were considered. But the trouble is, that the past shows that he disregards the spirit of his promises, whenever his interest inspires him to do it. His attitude relative to the resumption of specie payments was favorable at one time to resumption in 1879, he even going so far as to support it in a message to the Legislature of his State. Now, in obedience to a sentiment in his party, he opposes the date altogether. What evidence is there, then, that he will not act in the same manner with reference to the payment of rebel claims? He has the technicality at hand to get out on, and the pressure would be sure to come, were they possessed of the power to enforce those claims. The only safety against them is the election of HAYES.

THE revelations that our telegraphic columns contain regarding the arrest of HENRY MARCUS, Treasurer of the Philadelphia Democratic City Executive Committee, and the capture of 50,000 fraudulent tax receipts, show that the advocates of "reform" will permit no barrier, even though it be a legal one, to stop their efforts to defeat the will of the people. It is a pleasure to record that in this case Hon. CHRISTIAN KNEASS, Chairman of the Republican City Committee, discovered and the officers of the law prevented the consummation of one of the most daring and stupendous Democratic frauds that has ever been attempted. This is clear and overwhelming evidence of the desperate measures that are being resorted to by the Democracy to circumvent the law and accomplish by foul means what they cannot gain by fair, and it demonstrates conclusively the emptiness of their cry of "reform." The Democratic party in Philadelphia sadly needs reformation itself, and now that two of its most prominent leaders have been caught in a bold attempt to destroy the purity of the ballot-box the law should be invoked to assist in reforming them. Philadelphia's Republican majority will now be greater than ever. One or two more such instances of "reform" and Pennsylvania's majority for HAYES and WHEELER will be as large as it gave President GRANT in 1872.

WE realize that it is not within our province to dictate as to what action the Presbyterian Synod should or should not take as to the Sunday Leader. It is, in a sense, a family matter. That is, if the editor of that paper should be a member of the church and issue a Sunday paper, circulating it on that day, in clear and gross violation of the statute law, and offending thereby the moral sense of his co-religionists, it is, strictly speaking, their matter and not ours. And yet there are two phases of the subject that are of interest to the public. One is, that if a person retains association with a given religious denomination, he should at least pay some respect to its wishes, as regards questions of practical morality. The excuse that it is a single sinner does not account for the utter loathing manifested toward the publication named—but its character is the real trouble. Aside from the prurient matter in its columns is the occasional downright infidelity and low pandering to the worst phases of Roman Catholicism that appear in its editorial columns. This is the real point of objection, as we see it expressed. Yet we incline to think the Synod and Presbytery have made more ado about a very small potato than was at all necessary. They should have enough philosophy to know that a narrow convex head is often responsible for what would be sins in broad minded, well balanced persons. It is not always philosophical or wise to pay attention to the malicious falsehoods of one so constituted, mentally, as to be a chronic liar. Allowance must be made for natural mental defects, which of course constitute features of character,—so closely are our mental and moral natures joined. We do not say that these remarks apply in the case under mention, but simply that they are general principles that should not be lost sight of in determining moral questions. It is sometimes better to endure a nuisance, and to let it naturally die, than to fight it into life; and the reports current as to the sharp reductions of pay to employes at the establishment mentioned gives significance to this suggestion. There can be no doubt of the correctness of the position of the Synod, but is the game worth the powder?

TWENTY-SEVENTH DISTRICT.

A recent visit within the bounds of the Twenty-seventh, or Northwestern Congressional District, affords us the clearest assurance that that district will be redeemed from the Democracy this year. Our candidate for Congress, Mr. WATSON, is making an active canvass, and is commending himself, in all directions, to the good will and earnest support of the party. He is not a public speaker, but a clear-headed, practical business man, who will render his district most excellent and practical service in committees, and by personal influence in the House. We are glad to be informed that the conferee system has been abandoned in that district and with most excellent results, as regards the good will attending the nominations. Mr. WATSON is from Meadville, while Erie claimed the candidate for Congress, on the basis of a proper division of offices. The Democratic candidate is from Erie, and the Democrats, who two years ago, appealed successfully to county pride in the canvass, are attempting this in vain this year. Erie promises Mr. WATSON the full party vote, and no doubt is entertained of his election. We most heartily commend the unanimity of feeling prevailing in that district, but commend our people to sleepless activity and vigilance.

At Franklin, on Thursday evening last, a vast audience assembled to listen to Hon. STOCKTON MATTHEWS. At Emlenton, on Friday evening, a large meeting was also held. Through the entire oil regions Republicans are thoroughly alive, and actively at work. No fears need be entertained as to the result in that part of the State.

REV. DR. JACOBUS.

The sudden death of Rev. Dr. JACOBUS, on Saturday, fell like a shock on the community. The equally sudden death of Rev. Dr. HOWARD, of the same denomination, had occurred so recently that the coincidence of the second death of one of the prominent Presbyterian ministers of the city seemed peculiarly sad. The two gentlemen thus suddenly taken away ranked among the first in their denomination. Dr. JACOBUS was a dignified gentleman, as well as a learned minister. He maintained the high standard of personal character so noted in the early ministry, and while not an ascetic, was rigid in his conformity to the rules and regulations of his denomination. He ever commanded the highest order of respect, and his influence was always pure and good. His style of address was elevated and scholarly, and his matter was full of lofty thought couched in clear, perspicuous, and even beautiful language. He did not resort to labored oratory, but carried his audience along by the forcefulness of his thoughts and the beauty of language. His hold on his congregation was very strong, and his death will be lamented equally with that of Dr. HOWARD.

Possibly the great influence of Dr. JACOBUS' life, was that exerted by him on his denomination at large. He rigidly defended the cardinal doctrines of Presbyterian faith, not compromising in the slightest with any departures from what he regarded as orthodox belief. He was not a narrow-minded bigot, unsocial and forbidding toward other denominations; on the contrary he was a kind spirited, pure gentleman, who could inter-associate with the representatives of other forms of Christian faith, in the most genial manner; but he clung with unswerving tenacity to the tenets of his own faith. He was thus one of the pillars of his church; a man who ever insisted on the maintenance of the faith received from the fathers. His life was well balanced, and his work well done. He had not outlived his usefulness, but was in his prime,—in the mid-tide of a life of successful labor. Yet he is called at a moment, when his career was so complete, that none could say his life was ended with his work undone. We sympathize with those who mourn his loss.

NEW CASTLE.

The Republicans of Lawrence county gave their great demonstration for the campaign on Saturday afternoon and evening last. It was a grand success, in attendance, enthusiasm and influence. At the Opera House, in the afternoon, Hon. THOMAS HOWARD, of this city, delivered an address that is spoken of in the highest terms, as forceful in oratory and thought, and peculiarly adapted to the demands of the occasion. In the evening J. VANNOTE spoke, the great torchlight procession being held immediately after. This was the finest demonstration of its kind ever had in New Castle, and was witnessed by a vast throng of people. There were delegations of marching clubs from Mercer and Beaver counties, and it was estimated that 2,000 men were in line.

All wears a most encouraging aspect in that Congressional District. Mr. SHALLENBERGER was at the demonstration, and delivered a brief address in the afternoon. He was introduced by Dr. WALLACE, present member, and competitor for renomination, in a brief address in which he pledged Lawrence county to stand firmly up to the ticket, and to give her full majority for our Congressional candidate. His noble and magnanimous course is highly appreciated. No doubt whatever is entertained of the result in that District. We have some of the greenback element in Lawrence county, and Prohibition is very strong there. Neither element, however, is so antagonized as to be specially dangerous to us. The Democrats have attempted to coquet with the Greenbackers, particularly with reference to the Legislative ticket, but were sadly discomfited. Still, they have continued to intrigue, and will, undoubtedly steal away some votes; but our people think they will gain from among regular Democrats as much as they lose in this way. Hon. Mr. MORGAN, one of our Legislative candidates, looks forward with some aspirations to the Speakership of the House. Legislatively, Lawrence and Mercer counties are affiliated as regards Senatorship, and Mercer is strongly tinctured with the Greenback idea. This will have more influence on Mr. THOMPSON, candidate for Congress, in the Mercer and Butler District, but even then will not endanger his success. The entire Greenback movement is Democracy in disguise, and is one of the most illogical political enterprises we have known. It is based on the most profound ignorance of the monetary laws and legislation of the country, and made up of appeals and declarations that are astonishingly stupid. For example, the declaration is made that the absence of silver is a loss to the poor, was driven out of the country by Republican legislation, and that they will not even give us greenbacks in place of silver. Government, according to this, is an eleemosynary institution, and our people paupers.

INTERPRETING PROPHECY.

We have never been profoundly impressed with the wisdom or skill of the prophetic interpretations that unusually abound, in times of war and turmoil. We realize, too, how dangerous it is to even open the subject, as we have none more confident than the interpreters of prophecy. Despite many failures, the last calculation is clearly and certainly right. The Millerite calculations as to the end of the world, and the many interpretations of prophecy, based on the name and career of NAPOLEON, are in point. We therefore allude to an old work comparatively, as bearing on prophetic interpretation, because of the general correctness of its surmises, thus far, and that its suggestions may give direction to the thoughts and investigations of the curious in such matters. We refer to a book now out of print, "Armageddon, or the United States in prophecy;" published in 1854, and written by Rev. S. D. BALDWIN, Presbyterian minister at Nashville, Tennessee. The book, among other things predicted a bloody and furious war, to begin in 1861, and closed on the 117th day of 1865—conditions exactly met by the rebellion, if we accept JOHNSTON's surrender to SHERMAN as the close of the war. This book also interprets the last six verses of the eleventh chapter of Daniel, and refers in the interpretation to what may be thought to be the impending Russo-Turkish war. We make a few brief quotations, to show the general drift of the interpreter's reasoning.

"And at the time of the end." This period was to be that between the first and last endings of the three and a half times, or between 1876 and 1878, or between the 1,290 and 1,335 days. During this period this wilful king was to come to his end; but, before his end, he was to engage in war for some outlying countries, and was to be interrupted by two great powers, but was to conquer and prosper till "the last end of indignation." As this was to be the great monarchy power represented by the image that was to be broken by the stone (since it was Rome), it is evident that its head must be in Europe, and must be the empire represented by the sepimo-octave head of the beast in Revelation. Now, the great power which fills half of Europe and overshadows and controls the rest, is the rising colossus, Russia; Russia, therefore, must be the power intended as falling in the holy mountain. Now, as Ezekiel, almost literally, describes Russia as falling on the mountains of Israel, in the latter day, he furnishes further evidence that the fourth kingdom, in the time of the end, was to be resurrected in or by Russia. The wilful kingdom was an autocrat among nations, and so is the Russian kingdom.

"The king of the south shall push or butt at him; and the king of the north shall come against him like a whirlwind, with chariots and with horesmen, and with many ships."

The two kingdoms, under the names North and South, are to be identified by their relative positions to the Russian power, or to each other. The king, or kingdom of the south would, very naturally, apply to Turkey, on the south of Russia; but as Turkey exists by the sufferance of France and England, it is impossible that the two great western powers, which hold to each other the relation of north and south, may be intended. At any rate, the southern king makes a short fight of it, if anything is to be understood by the figure of butting at the willful king, or he brings on the fight. The king of the north is Great Britain. This is evident from its northern position, as a great power, and from the immense naval, as well as land forces, it possesses. No nation, but a very great one, would attack the autocratic king; and no nation has such a navy as Britain. This north nation was to come like a whirlwind, with his great naval and land forces, which are indicated by "many ships," and "chariots, and horsemen." The attack was to be great and furious, but, finally, unsuccessful; for the autocrat moves right up to his purpose, and more than gains it, according to the prophet.

"He shall enter into the countries, and shall overflow, and pass over."

His entering the countries intimates that this was his original design, in which he had been interrupted by the two great powers that had confederated against him. England and France, or England and Turkey, will unite against Russia. And it seems as if a considerable effort was to be made to check Russia's designs; yet Russia is to take the countries this side of the crossings, and then to pass over into Asia, it would seem.

"He shall enter the glorious land." This at once reveals his advancement into Palestine, and shows that the passing over related to the conquest of Asia Minor, and the Turkish empire generally.

"Many countries shall be overthrown; but these shall escape out of his hand, even Edom and Moab, and the chief of the children of Ammon." This would literally imply the conquest of a great portion of Asiatic Turkey, with some exceptions. These were conquests in Asia.

If these statements had been recently made, much of their interest would have been dispelled by the assumption that the interpretation had been adapted to known events. But many of the combinations of Russian policy, by which some of these fulfillments are possible, have been made within the past five or six years. As remarked by another journal:—According to the views of Mr. BALDWIN the accomplishment of DANIEL's prophecy was to begin in 1876, continue through 1877, and terminate before the close of April, 1878. Should his prognostications turn out to be true the near future will develop startling and profoundly interesting events. In that case the efforts of the European powers to patch up a peace will prove abortive; the actual occupation of the revolted provinces by Russian troops will take place; England will oppose the Czar's progress with a sudden, tremendous onset in magnificent array, but without avail; Russian armies will victoriously cross the Dardanelles into Turkey, making a conquest of the European portion first, then pour triumphantly into Asia Minor, reduce it to subjection, together with Egypt, Palestine, and some African countries." We have never taken much interest, or had much faith, in the literal interpretations of obscure prophecies, and have not now. We simply give the above as a literary and prophetic curiosity, and nothing more. What do the interpreters of prophesy who flourish among us think of it?

POLITICAL NOTES.

THE Democratic party presents as its candidate for the office of President of the nation a man who has been unable to answer the charge that he committed perjury and fraud to evade the payment of taxes.

AMONG the business men of New York who have within a fortnight avowed their purpose to vote for Hayes and Wheeler, on the ground that the election of Tilden would be unsafe, are Moses Taylor, John Jacob Astor, Wm. E. Dodge, and John A. Stewart.

Mr. RIDDLE, of the Fourth Tennessee District, the author of the bill to expedite the payment of the claims of Confederates, has been made so popular by his urgency in their behalf that his competitor has withdrawn from the canvass, and the legislation that Mr. Riddle proposes is regarded as the way to "make times good and money plenty."

THE enthusiasm of the Democratic press over Gov. Tilden's letter is not unbounded. There seems to be an impression in "reform" circles that the Governor has interfered with some of the most attractive features of the longed-for "change." It is all well enough to talk about "reform," but the party is half discouraged now at the first hint that anything is meant by it.

A GOOD registry law is the best safeguard for the ballot-box, but, while Republicans favor it, Democrats oppose it with all their vehemence. Anything that can prevent fraud at our elections meets with condemnation at their hands, because they know that without it they cannot succeed in overcoming the honest, intelligent vote of the country. Villainy is a virtue with the Democracy.

WHAT nonsense it is to ask Mr. Belmont, or Mr. Morrill, or any other partisan on either side, how he thinks the election of Mr. Tilden would affect the public credit. People have only to look back and see how the public credit was affected the last time a straight Democratic ticket was beaten. Mr. Tilden is not more trustworthy than Mr. Seymour, and the party behind him is the same. When London and Frankfort knew that Democracy had been beaten in 1868, United States bonds jumped forward. That tells the whole story.

EVIDENCE has been obtained tending to establish both by fair legal presumption and by proof that the Pittsburgh and Fort Wayne Railroad Company, about 1869, paid Gov. Tilden $50,000 for services, this being the year in which he returns only $17,000 income; that this payment and Gov. Tilden's receipt for it are recorded among the papers of the company; and that the books containing this information have been transferred to an officer of the company who is a special political friend of Gov. Tilden, who refuses access to them. This refusal is authorized by a Board of Directors of whom Mr. Tilden is one.

STOKES RELEASED.

His Departure From Auburn—Arrival at Albany Saturday—His Complaints of Harsh Treatment by the Prison Authorities—His Plans for the Future.

[N. Y. Times.]

Edward S. Stokes was released from Auburn Prison at 8 o'clock on Saturday morning, and accompanied by several relatives and a few friends, left there on the special train, arriving at Albany at 2 o'clock. He is much changed in appearance since leaving Sing Sing Prison. He seems unable to realize that he is free, and says that notwithstanding he is about to meet those near and dear to him, he yet has the most melancholy feeling he ever experienced. A reporter met Stokes at the Delevan House, and he complained bitterly of his removal last July from Sing Sing to Auburn Prison. He said: "During my entire stay in Sing Sing Prison I was never reprimanded by any official, for I always studiously complied with all the rules and regulations. I never endeavored to obtain any privileges or immunities that were not vouchsafed to a score of convicts situated as I was. The notoriety of my case was bad for me in many ways. To escape the curious gaze of visitors necessitated almost constant seclusion. Of course, any work that my contractor could find for me was always welcome, but I was most of the time alone, and when not reading, a prey of bitter thoughts. Thus you can readily see that my transfer to Auburn had not its origin in anything that was prejudicial to the discipline of the prison, growing out of partiality shown me by the officials. It was on the 14th of July last that a draft of convicts was made up for transfer to Auburn. The final preparations for the departure were made, when, as I was crossing the prison-yard, I was summarily seized and taken to the blacksmith shop, where I was heavily ironed, hands and feet. In this condition I was placed in the car and linked to one of the most hardened criminals. My removal was directly contrary to the established prison rules, and was prohibited by the statute which says that the State shall not be put to the expense of removing from prison to prison any convict whose unexpired term is less than one year. I was not long on my journey to Auburn before I perceived that every humiliation was to be heaped upon me. A man stationed in the rear of the car shouted at every station at which the train stopped: "Stokes is here, going to Auburn prison." For twelve hours I endured the most terrible agony, my ankle being swollen to twice its natural size in consequence of the manacle being harshly riveted. On arriving at the prison I was faint and exhausted, and I asked if I could not see the physician. Permission was refused, and I was ordered to take a cold bath. Being very feverish I protested that I was not in condition to receive such treatment, but it was of no avail. Coming out of the water I was taken with a severe chill, which was followed by an attack of my old malady—asthma. In this condition I was taken to the State shop and all my clean clothing removed, and in their stead I received the filthiest shirt that ever was worn, together with a pair of pantaloons that were a good match. Neither undershirt, vest, or coat was given to me, and in this half nude condition I was seated on a stool, and my hair and beard, which were very short, shaved off as roughly as if it had been done with a lawn-mower. Becoming completely exhausted I was compelled to lie on the floor, and not until then was I visited by the Doctor who at once directed me to a bed in the hospital. I had no sooner fell into a doze than I was aroused, an order having been given to remove me into cell No. 58 instanter, whether sick or dying. Being unable to walk, I was carried out by two attendants, and handed over to Captain Johnson, who endeavored to help me along. The exertion I made to walk was such that I fell, fainting, in the corridor. After restoratives had been applied I was again taken up and put in the cell. I was left in an insensible condition, and upon returning consciousness I found myself dripping wet, the cold perspiration having started from every pore of my body. I again had a severe paroxysm of asthma. My agony was complete when I found the cell without ventilation and the bed and bedding teeming with vermin. The next day I was conducted to the hospital, and again returned to the same cell. In fact the Prison Physician, Dr. Hoaxy, after an interview with Inspector Clark, told me he could do nothing for me. On the 21st of July I was unable to leave my cell. I had so suffered from the asthma and want of air that I was completely prostrated. I again asked to see the physician and also asked for a mustard plaster to place on my chest. The physician did not visit me, but I received the plaster, and then my cell door was again locked during the entire day as well as night. Notwithstanding I requested some nourishment, I was fed on bread and water. For two weeks I daily begged to have a clean cell or to have the vermin that were devouring me exterminated. By body was completely scarified. I endured this state of affairs for two weeks before having my cell cleaned out and proper bedding supplied."

Stokes said he could give reasons for his unusual treatment, but he declined to make any positive statement at present. Referring to his trial, he said that "but for the willful perjury of the two hall boys," he would have been acquitted. He will, he said, spend a short time in New York, to attend to some business, and then take a trip to California.

The murder for which Stokes has suffered is still fresh in the memory of the citizens of New York, though nearly five years have elapsed since the deed was done. On Saturday, the 6th of January, 1872, shortly before dark, Stokes shot James Fisk, Jr., on the stairs of the ladies' entrance to the Grand Central Hotel. The notoriety which had been attained by Fisk, connected with his tragic death, caused immediate and widespread excitement, and all kinds of opinions were expressed in regard to the event. Stokes was immediately arrested and confined in the Tombs, and on February 28, 1873, after undergoing trial for murder in the first degree, he was sentenced to be hanged, a sentence which was finally annulled. A new trial was granted, and on October 29, 1873, he was sentenced to four years' imprisonment in the State Prison. The length of his incarceration has been reduced by good conduct, so that in reality Stokes has served but three years under the last sentence.

Misspent Evenings.

The boy who spends an hour of each evening lounging idly on the street corners, wastes in the course of a year three hundred and sixty-five precious hours, which, if applied to study, would familiarize him with the rudiments of almost any of the familiar sciences. If in addition to wasting an hour each evening he spends ten cents for a cigar, which is usually the case, the amount thus worse than wasted would pay for ten of the leading periodicals of the country. Boys, think of these things. Think of how much time and money you are wasting, and for what? The gratification afforded by the lounge on the corner or the cigar is not only temporary but positively hurtful. You cannot indulge in them without seriously injuring yourselves. You acquire idle and wasteful habits, which will cling to you with each succeeding year. You may in after life shake them off, but the probabilities are that the habits thus formed in early life will remain with you to your dying day. Be warned, then, in time, and resolve that as the hour spent in idleness is gone forever, you will improve each passing one and thereby fit yourself for usefulness and happiness.

Persecution of Negroes.

Since 1865 there have been at least 200 negroes killed in Edgefield county, S. C. In 1868, when the reconstruction acts were put in force, the whites of that county became noisy in their denunciations of the Government, and arming themselves with their old rebel guns they made an onslaught upon the negroes, killing thirty of them in one day. Since that time a desultory firing has been kept up, shooting a negro here and there, when, on such occasions as the Ned Tenant difficulty in 1874, a dozen or more were killed. It was Edgefield men who went down to Hamburg on the 4th of last July and captured and massacred six unarmed negroes. It is quite natural that comparatively ignorant and persecuted negroes should attempt to retaliate upon the men who have thus terrorized over them.

Destiny in all Things.

Dr. Woodward, a Glasgow physician of the last century, had a patient who always had his fee in his hand to give the doctor as he felt his pulse. One day the doctor arrived only to hear that a few minutes before his patient had died. "Impossible!" cried the doctor; "he cannot be dead yet. Let me see him—some trance or heavy sleep, perhaps." The doctor accordingly went to the bedside, felt the pulse and also a couple of guineas in the dead man's hand, which he took quietly into his own as honestly earned. "Ay, ay, poor fellow!" said the doctor; "he is dead. There's destiny in all things," and he went on his way.

An Awkward Mistake.

At a dinner party there were two sisters present, one a widow who had just emerged from her weeds, the other not long married, whose husband has lately gone out to India for a short term. A young barrister present was deputed to take the widow down to dinner. Unfortunately he was under the impression that his partner was the married lady whose husband had just arrived in India. The conversation between them began with the lady's remarking how extremely hot it was. "Yes, it is very hot," returned the young barrister. Then a happy thought suggested itself to him, and he added with a cheerful smile, "But not so hot as the place to which your husband has gone." The look with which the widow answered this "happy thought" will haunt that young barrister till the day of his death.

A Sudden Change.

There was considerable excitement around town yesterday over the war dispatches from the East, and a crowd at the Central Market had a lively discussion as to what an Eastern war would result in. A tall man, wearing a faded Greeley hat, climbed upon a bench and solemnly began: "My voice is for war!"

A boy threw half a head of cabbage and struck him on the mouth, and the tall man spit out the crumbs, climbed down, and continued:

"But I prefer peace!"

His wife came up just then and obliged him to prefer going home with her.—Free Press.

Are now prepared to show the largest line of Ladies and Children's Suits and Cloaks ever opened in this city, and at prices in accordance with the wants of the times.
During the period of extreme depression in prices of woolen goods in New York they made contracts for several hundred Rough Cloth Coats, which they now offer at as low prices at retail as it is possible to buy the same goods elsewhere in the United States.
Our lines of Suits were never so extensive and inviting, and comprise all the favorite shades and fabrics, made in the latest styles.
In Basket, Beaver and Chinchilla Cloths we have all the new styles of Garments, in sizes to suit children from 2 years to the largest sized woman.
Stylish Polonaise, Basque and Overskirts in great variety.
We are prepared to make to order in our work rooms Silk and Cashmere Suits, either from our own goods or those brought to us by customers, at short notice.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, October 30, 1876.

The week closed with a less active and more depressed financial market than we have had for a time. It is possible that the elections have something to do with this. The public mind is so absorbed in the subject of politics that business has come to be secondary to politics. It is also thought that the oil contest has something to do with the status of the money market. The exporting element seek to break the market and so refused to buy except as compelled. Refiners and producers have at last come to realize that their interests, and those of business and the country at large, require oil to be maintained at a paying standard. Every indication points to the speedy success of the movement; but pending the struggle refiners have been idle. This stopped the financial activity that started up with the recent advance in oil. We do not think the depression will last long. An undercurrent of hopefulness already prevails.

THE SILVER INVESTIGATION.

The Silver Commission, of which Senator Jones is chairman, have sent to prominent bankers and business men a circular setting forth the authorization of the commission and concluding with the following request:

Your attention is respectfully invited to the fact that, under the first clause of the resolution, it becomes the duty of the commission to inquire into the changes in the relative value of gold and silver, and the effects thereof upon trade, commerce, finance and the productive interests of the country. In pursuance of this requirement they desire to submit to you, as merchant, banker, broker, manufacturer, producer or carrier, the following interrogatories, with the request that you will answer them, in writing, and return such answers to the commission at your earliest convenience:

1. To what causes do you attribute the recent changes in the relative value of silver and gold?
2. What percentage or portion of such change do you attribute to a fall in silver, and what portion to a rise in gold?
3. By what process of reasoning or deduction do you arrive at the conclusion given?
4. What is the present general condition throughout the country of the trade, commercial or financial calling, or productive industry, in which you are engaged?
5. If possible, give some statistics showing the condition of such industry compared with its condition at other periods?
6. If a depression exists, to what cause or causes do you attribute it?
7. Is such depression due in part to a similar depression in some other country or countries, or to a general depression throughout the commercial world? In other words, is it local or general?
8. If the latter, to what causes of world-wide or international application do you attribute such depression?
9. Please furnish the commission with any other information bearing on the above subjects which you possess and desire to communicate.

APPEALING FOR PROTECTION.

The manufacturers of Sheffield, England, are appealing for protection against their brother manufacturers in America. Commenting on this, the Journal of Commerce says: "Confession is good for the soul, if not for the purse, and the Sheffield manufacturers will feel better, even if they are out of pocket, after a frank acknowledgment that American rivalry has become formidable. The same issue of this journal which announced the appeal to Lord Carnarvon for retaliatory duties on imports of American produce into England and her colonies, contained an extract from the regular Birmingham trade report to the London Times admitting that considerable quantities of American made hardwares are now finding their way even into the English hardware centres. The appearance of American textile fabrics in the British markets is something of a recent event, but it has been known for no inconsiderable period that in other specialties, as cutlery, the skill of the British workman is now hard pushed by his American rival. Axes imported from America are favorites with many buyers in England, and competition is not excluded from the finer kinds of cutlery, in which Sheffield possesses a world-wide reputation. It is enough to signalize our victory without bloodshed and without wrong, merely to take the acknowledgments which come, no doubt reluctantly, from the other side."

—There has been considerable talk and some action in New York in regard to evading the sharp and unprofitable railroad competition on the great lines. The Canada roads and the Lake Shore and Michigan Central were in conference by their representatives on Friday, and it is stated that eastward bound freights are to be advanced either before or at the close of lake and canal navigation. So far as the Messrs. Vanderbilt, Scott and Garrett are concerned the rumor is that an armistice has been arrived at, so that the belligerents can at least confer on the trouble.

—The suit of the Columbia National Bank, of Columbia, Pa., against Frederick S. Bletz, to recover the sum of $12,100, money loaned, was terminated last week by trial in the Lancaster County Court, and a judgment rendered in favor of plaintiff for $10,097. The defense was usury. The Court, under the decision of our Supreme Court, allowed the claim, deducting therefrom the excess of interest charged beyond 6 per cent.

—During the month of November, which commences on Wednesday next, there will be paid by our various corporations dividends and interest to quite a large amount, so that, counting all sources, a very considerable sum of ready cash will come upon the market.

Governments were dull, but better prices. Railroad bonds were quiet and firm. This afternoon Toledo & Wabash consolidated convertible advanced to 50. Lake Shore registered firsts sold at 106½, and New Jersey Central convertible at 87½. State bonds were quiet and strong. The stock market was lower in early dealings, with a decline in prices of ¼ to 2½ per cent., chiefly in St. Paul shares. After midday a firmer feeling set in, and there was a recovery in the entire active list of ¼ to 1½ per cent. The market after the second call was strong, and remained firm during the greater part of the afternoon, but fell off a little towards the close. Lake Shore, after advancing to 62, closed at 61⅞. Michigan Central advanced to 51⅛, and closed at 50⅞. New York Central rose to 104⅞, Northwestern common to 38 1-2, preferred to 61, Wabash to 7, Hannibal & St. Joe common to 15 1-2, preferred to 29, and Western Union to 73⅞. St. Paul common rose to 25 1-2, and preferred to 56 1-2, with the last sales at 25⅛ and 56. Among the coal shares Delaware, Lackawanna & Western advanced to 74⅛, reacted to 73⅞, and closed at 74. New Jersey Central rose to 36⅞, and closed at 36⅛. Delaware & Hudson Canal advanced from 70 1-2 to 71 1-2, and Morris & Essex sold up to 94¼. The market closed active and unsettled for Western stocks. The rest were steady. Included in the sales to-day were 3,100 shares Pacific Mail, 28,000 Western Union, 2,500 Northwests, 22,000 St. Pauls, 31,000 Lake Shore, 5,300 Toledo & Wabash, 4,600 Michigan Central, 6,200 New Jersey Central, and 23,500 Delaware, Lackawanna & Western.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, October 28, 1876.

The Grain and Flour markets continue fairly active, and prices are steady but unchanged. The hog products are weak in tone under the influence of the advices from the west, but there has been no quotable change in prices. No new features deserving of special notice to report in the grocery business. Butter continues exceedingly dull, while Eggs and Cheese are in steady demand at full prices.

APPLES—The receipts continue liberal, and with a supply considerably in excess of the demand prices are no better, ranging from $1a1,50 ℔ bbl.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—3½a4c ℔ pound.

BROOM CORN—Choice green brush that will work up, 5½a6; choice hurl, 6½a7c; medium, 5½c for green, and 5½c for red tipped. Covers and insiding, 4a5c; crooked, 2½a3½.

BUTTER—Prime rolls, 21a23c; choice do, 24a25c; fancy creamery, 30c; solid packed, 16a20. Dealers continue to report the market very dull, with the supply of common and medium Butter steadily accumulating.

BEANS—In fair demand, with jobbing sales at $1,40a1,50 per bushel.

CHEESE—Is in steady demand, and we are reported regular sales to the wholesale trade at 13¼a13½, and one cent additional in a jobbing way.

CHESTNUTS—$3a3,50 ℔ bushel.

CIDER—The market continues very dull, with considerable offering; quotable at $3,50a4,50 ℔ bbl, including bbls.

CRANBERRIES—$9a11 per bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—Prime new Apples quoted at 5a6c ℔ lb. Peaches in light supply, but there is little or no demand for them.

EGGS—The market is fairly active, and the supply of fresh being light prices are still maintained; quotable at 27a28c. Pickeled Eggs, 22a25c.

FLOUR—There is a fair demand and the market is steady, but prices remain unchanged. We continue to quote—in a jobbing way—good brands of winter or spring wheat at $6,50a6,75. Some dealers report that choice springs ought to bring $7, taking the cost at the source of supply into consideration. Patent process and fancy brands, $8a9. Rye flour, $4,50a5 per barrel.

GROCERIES—The general position of the grocery business has not varied much since the date of our last report. Coffee and Sugars continue firm, with a fair demand, but prices remain unchanged.

Loose half a cent less.

GRAIN—There is a fair demand for Wheat, and the market may be quoted steady at $1,23a1,27 for good to prime Penna. and Ohio,red. The Oat market has been a little offish during the past day or two, but prices remain unchanged; 37a38 on track for good mixed to white. Corn unchanged; old Ear Corn quoted at 55a57 on track, and new at 43a45. Old Shelled Corn quoted at 58a60 for good to prime yellow, free in elevator. No movement in Rye; we continue to quote at 68a70. Barley ranges all the way from 90c to $1,15, as to quality.

HAY—Loose is selling from country wagons at $12a16 per ton. No. 1 baled $14a15, and firmer. Straw, $8a10.

MILL FEED—Bran is in better supply and easier; $12,50a13 per ton; Middlings firmer and higher; $21a23.

ONIONS—In fair demand, but the supply is ample and prices remain unchanged; $2a2,50 ℔ bbl

LARD OIL—There is a firm market and a good demand for winter strained. We quote Procter & Gamble's make as follows:

Double Extra Winter	95
Alexander Extra	85
No. 1	80
No. 2	70
Best White Miners	61
Do. Yellow	56

These are the jobbing prices—round lots can be bought at a shade lower prices.

POULTRY—Live chickens selling by the coop at 40a50c ℔ pair, according to size.

POTATOES—We continue to quote at 55a65c per bu on track, as to quality. Sweets unchanged at $2,50a3,50 ℔ bbl, the outside figure for prime Jerseys.

PROVISIONS—The general spirit of the market for the hog products is weak in sympathy with the reports from the west, and prices are easy but not quotably lower. A Chicago exchange, of Friday, speaking of that market, says: The receipts of hogs yesterday were rather large, and quotations slightly reduced, though the continued cool weather favors packing operations. The great drag upon packing thus far is a lack of demand for the product. Foreign buyers are decidedly slow, and in the absence of orders from abroad there is little local speculative confidence in the future.

SEEDS—Sales of Timothy seed at $2 ℔ bu. to the trade, and $2,15a2,25 in a small way.

TALLOW—Is reported easier; rough quoted at 5½; city rendered, 8½c per lb; country, 7½c.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, Oct. 28, 1876.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

There has been little or no change in the general position of the market for either Crude or Refined during the past week; business continues exceedingly dull, indeed, it has been almost suspended hereabouts for several weeks, but hopes are entertained that there will soon be a revival. The chief, as we might say the only drawback, is the 'hitch' between the exporters and the combination refiners; the former have bought very little for several weeks in hopes of forcing prices down, but thus far without success, and, moreover, judging from present appearances, it is not likely that they will be. The 'Standard Combination,' in addition to owning nearly all the refineries, either own or control nearly all the visible supply, and, furthermore, they express a determination to 'hold' until the exporters are willing to pay the price they (the combination) demand and which it is said, will only afford a fair margin for profit. It is confidently expected by some operators that the exporters will commence buying within the next few days, but the same feeling existed a week ago. In regard to the Crude article, there is nothing new to record; business is very dull in sympathy with the product, and with the supply in first hands increasing, and some holders, in consequence of financial necessities, forced to realize, prices are weak and lower. However, just as soon as the exporters commence to buy, and this cannot be much longer delayed, there will be an increased demand for the raw article, and a general revival in all branches of business connected either directly or indirectly with this important interest.

The Crude market was rather firmer to-day, and as compared with yesterday, prices were a shade higher. United certificates quoted at $3,06¼a3,08¾; there has been little or no difference made between United and shipment for some days.

The Refined market was also feeling better today, having been strengthened somewhat by the advance at Antwerp, and while there was nothing done, it looked as if the exporters would be obliged to buy before long Prices unchanged at 26c deliverable on the seaboard, and 23c to home trade.

Oil Barrels dull but unchanged at $1,05 for countries and $1,20 for city make.

Receipts crude from January 1st to date, 1,394,323 bbls; same time last year, 1,051,884 bbls. Shipments of refined from January 1st to date 848,931 bbls; same time last year, 594,118 bbls. Of the shipments this year 128,000 barrels were shipped to Richmond by way of the Ohio river, to Huntington.

CATTLE.

Of the 382 cars reported for the past week, 159 cars were through and 223 cars local. Sales, 3,508 head.

The supply, although somewhat less than that of last week, was largely in excess of the demand; it was estimated that about one-third of the entire supply on sale was shipped on in first hands. There was a fair attendance of buyers, but having had bad markets at home, and claiming that the cattle they bought here last week either lost or made no money, they were, as might be expected, very 'bearish,' and notwithstanding holders dropped prices fully 25c ℔ cwt, many of them, as already intimated, were unable to sell, had to go on further east. Dealers all agreed that prices were lower, although some reported the decline greater than others. The highest price paid by any of the regular eastern buyers was 5.20, and Dadisman (the purchaser) informed our reporter that he would have had to pay at least 25 cents ℔ cwt more last week for the same style and quality of cattle. Philadelphia buyers took less than one-half the number they usually do, and the purchases on New York account were by no means large; country buyers and butchers bought pretty freely but at a lower range of prices. There was a rather better feeling yesterday and to-day in consequence of the more favorable advices from New York, and it is hoped that trade will be better next week, as there is plenty of room for improvement.

Following may be regarded as the ruling rates:

Extra 1,400a1,600 steers	4,75a5,25
Prime 1,200a1,300 steers	4,25a4,50
Good 1,000a1,100 steers	3,50a4,00
Fair 1,000a1,100 Steers	3,25a3,75
Common 900a1,000 lbs	2,75a3,00
Bulls, Cows and Stags	2,25a3,00
Stockers—700a800 lbs	3,00a3,25
Texas and Cherokees	2,50a3,50

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The supply, although somewhat less than that of last week, was considerably in excess of the demand, and prices declined ¼a⅜ of a cent ℔ lb. The market was, without doubt, the worst we have had for a month or more, for which various reasons were assigned. One was the very unfavorable character of the advices from New York, as we are dependent upon New York buyers to take the most of our best sheep, and, another lies in the fact that the demand nearly always falls off at this season of the year, when fresh pork largely takes the place of mutton. Moreover, the demand for stockers always falls off considerably this month, and the market for common grades was one of, if not the worst of the season in consequence; scalawags had to be sold for less, possibly, than they cost at home. There was a better feeling yesterday and to-day under the influence of more favorable advices from New York, but no improvement in prices, which may be quoted as follows:

Extra 95a100 lbs fine wooled	4,60a4,80
Prime 85a90 lbs " "	4,00a4,20
Good 80a85 lbs " "	3,60a3,80
Common 70a75 lbs " "	2,50a3,00
Indiana and Missouri, coarse wool	2,50a4,50
Lambs, as to quality	3,50a5,00

HOGS.

The market has been fairly active during the past week, and while the run was rather larger than usual, prices have been very well sustained, although they are a shade lower than they were this day week. To-day, however, with warmer weather and unfavorable reports from Chicago, the feeling was offish, and at the close, there were several bunches remaining unsold.

Following are the ruling quotations as we close our report:

Philadelphia Hogs	5,80a6,25
Best light Yorkers	5,50a5,75
Roughs	4,00a4,50

THE WOOL TRADE.

New York.

During the past week there has been a considerable movement in domestic wools, and at full prices, with the strength of tone well preserved on all grades, and buyers finding it almost useless to bid, except upon a basis of extreme figures. Manufacturers proper are probably the smallest and most cautious operators, financial disabilities in some instances preventing them from taking hold freely, though, at the best, not many can bring themselves to believe that it is policy to handle supplies with freedom until the market for goods assumes a more positive and encouraging shape. Dealers, however, by their acts, appear to endorse their faith, and have taken a good amount of stock here and at other seaboard points of distribution, and we are so informed that a number of operators are continuously busy in the country picking up desirable parcels. The belief is in a good full business during the winter and spring, and much confidence is expressed in the ability to ultimately bring consumers well up to the advanced cost now asked on most of the leading styles. Fleeces have been sought after, and the movement only checked by the cost. Both California and Texas wools sold well, and the attractive assortment is much broken. Foreign wools are in more favor, partly for re-export in bond to Canada, and the tone correspondingly firm.

Sales are reported of 10,000 lbs light fleece, 46c; 1,000 lbs washed State combing, 47c; 25,000 lbs X and above, 25,000 lbs X and XX, 15,000 lbs combing, 14 sacks tub washed, 100,000 lbs State fleece on private terms; before our last a stock of about 300,000 lbs ungraded Ohio as received, mostly to dealers at within a fraction of 43½@44c, it is said; 2,000 lbs extra pulled, 40c; 80 bags super lambs' do, 3,000 lbs burry Louisianna, 5,000 lbs scoured Texas, 5,000 lbs choice Eastern Texas, 27c; 3,000 Western Texas, 30,000 lbs do, 25,000 lbs do, 25,000 lbs do, 10,000 lbs do, 65,000 lbs Eastern do on private terms; 500 bags and 7,000 lbs Western Texas, 18@21c; 4,000 lbs scoured do, 58½c; 50,000 lbs Texas and Colorado at 22½@27c; 75 bales spring California, 23@26c; 50,000 lbs do, 24@25c; 125 bales do, 24@27c; 225 bales do, part at 30½c for very choice; 75,000 lbs do, 25 bales fall do, 15,000 lbs pulled Colorado, and private terms; 4,000 lbs fall California, 21c; 50,000 lbs do, 19@22c; 11 bales Utah, 25 bales Oregon, 30,000 lbs do, 2,000 lbs black Colorado and 450 bales Cape on private terms.—Bulletin.

RIVER NEWS.

State of the Rivers, Movements of Steamboats, &c.

THE stage of water last evening by the marks was 2 feet 6 inches, and rising. Cloudy and warm, with indications favorable for more rain.

THE Whale double-tripped it from the Barracks up.

THE R. E. Leeis reported as making from $5,000 to 10,000 per trip.

THE towboat Coal City is laid up at Hartford City on account of low water.

THE Ironsides is off the dock, and a new coat of paint adds greatly to her outward appearance.

THE rock that caught the Gaff on the Grand Chain, lower Ohio, is worrying the pilots very much.

THE Thompson Dean went into New Orleans with 4000 bales of cotton and 4495 sks of seed—a very nice cargo for her first trip.

CAPT. J. S. Patterson, of the C. B. Church, has removed from his farm near Newbury, Clermont Co., O., to Newport, Ky.

THE Dick Fulton No. 2, from New Orleans with a tow of empty barges for Pittsburgh, passed Cincinnati on Thursday. Pilot, Jos. Alexander.

CAPT. Jack Blank's new steamer J. H. Hanna, for Ouachita river, is 188 feet long; 38 feet beam and 6½ hold. She is about ready for business.

CAPT. J. D. HEGLER has sold the hull of the Louisville to parties at Baton Rouge, who will convert it into a wharfboat, to be located at that point.

THE Raven came near losing a barge at Henderson bar by the sand washing out from under it caused it to list until the water was over the deck. It was, however, saved.

CAPT. Woodbury has made 5 or 6 trips up Black river from Jacksonport with his Arch P. Green since he has been up there. The boat has brought out some 300 bales of cotton.

CAPT. Peter Boughner, one of the Bostona's pilots, reports a new, large and dangerous snag in the channel at the lower end of Augusta, Ky. It lodged there during the recent freshet, and pilots must keep a sharp look-out for it.

ST. LOUIS advices under date of Thursday report; The Iron Mountain was engaged in passing barges over Horsetail, and goes through to Pittsburgh, water permitting. She has five barges of ore and two empty square barges.

THE Salt Valley, Capt. Dewolfe, is the regular packet for Ironton and Cincinnati to-day, leaving promptly as advertised. She is an A 1 low-water boat, and no trouble from low water need be apprehended. Messrs. Kirker and Buchannan are still associated together in the office.

THE Ross Miller's cargo of cotton is to be carried out to the mouth of the Pine Bluff, and two trips will be necessary to accomplish the job. A portion of the cotton is wet, and of course heavy and soggy. It will all be saved. As yet it is uncertain whether or not the boat can be raised. The chances are against it.

THE Bismarck Tribune of October 18, says: "The steamer Josephine arrived from Cow Island Sunday with 75 tons silver ore, and 35 passengers destined for the Black Hills. Capt. Coulson reports 30 inches of water above Peck. The Josephine left for Buford with a large cargo, taking all Government freight for up-river points and a large number of passengers."

CAPT. ED. EVANS, an old and well known steamboatman, but who for some years past has been living on a farm a few miles from this city, died very suddenly on Saturday. Deceased commanded the steamers Westmoreland, Leonidas, Exchange and others; the latter was the last boat he had charge of. He was highly esteemed, both as a man and a boatman, by all who enjoyed his acquaintance.

THE Cincinnati Commercial of Saturday says: At present there are less than 30 barges of Pittsburgh coal here in first hands, while the retailers have thirty days supply in the river. There are not quite 200 barges of Pittsburgh coal altogether in this market; 8 cents is the highest price paid, while the syndicate are holding out for 8½ and 9c, by the barge. Mr. L. W. Grubbs, of Lawrence street, is now guaging coal and coke afloat.

THE wages paid on a first-class Missouri River boat in 1858 amounted to about $4,000 per month, as follows: Two pilots, each $400; two engineers, each $150; two strikers, each $50; captain, $200; two clerks, $175 and $125; two mates, $175 and $75; two stewards, $100 and $50; six cabin boys, $25 each; two chambermaids, $30 and $20; four cooks at $100, $50, $30 and $20; twenty deck hands and firemen at $40 each. The carpenter should be added to the above.

THE cases of Irwin H. Bettis, ex-boiler inspector at St. Louis who is under four indictments for embezzling the city's funds while in that office, were called for trial in the Criminal Court Thursday morning. Bettis failed to appear, and his bond in the sum of $4,000 was declared forfeited. The securities on it are Joseph F. Wangler, Joseph Kilpatrick and David Campbell, one or two of whom were on his official bond, and all of whom are responsible men.

A ST. LOUIS dispatch under date of Friday says the Iron Mountain was detained by the channel being blocked there, and did not get away for Pittsburgh till this afternoon. Commodore R. C. Gray went East yesterday, and J. H. Dunlap goes over to Evansville to-night to join the Rover. The Whale has not yet decided where she will load for. Captain Adams was on 'Change to-day. The John L. Rhoads will be in to-night, but she is not advertised to return to the Ohio.

HOME NEWS.

Parties who do not receive the GAZETTE by 7 A. M., are requested to notify the office, and the tardiness will be corrected at once.

The probabilities for to-day are stationary and rising, followed by falling barometer, southwest and southeast winds, nearly stationary temperature, partly cloudy weather, and rain areas.

A Stolen Sheep.

The police of the Fifth district (Lawrenceville) on Saturday night discovered two men, giving their names as Ed. O'Brien and Hugh Bennett, killing a sheep in "Skunk Hollow." Their actions being suspicious, the police concluded the sheep was stolen, and arrested the men, who are in the lock-up, awaiting a hearing.

Attempted Highway Robbery.

About two o'clock yesterday morning two butchers, who reside in East Liberty, were passing down Penn avenue, when at the corner of Thirty-ninth street they were attacked by three men. The bucthers defended themselves so vigorously that their assailants were compelled to flee. Neither of the two men were injured, and of course, they saved their pocket books.

TWICE SHOT AT.

Attempt to Assassinate a Woman on Butler Street.

Saturday night as Mrs. Baker, who keeps a cigar store on Butler street, between Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth streets, was closing her establishment, she was shot at twice by a man named James Syler. The man was arrested and locked up for a hearing. Neither of the bullets struck Mrs. Baker, but they came disagreeably near her. The cause of the attempt is unknown.

Post 38, G. A. R.

Past Department Commander Tyson, assisted by a number of other members from Allegheny and Pittsburgh, instituted a Post of the Grand Army of the Republic at Etna on Friday evening last. After the exercises necessary to the initiation and installation of the officers of the new Post, an old-fashioned lunch of sandwiches and coffee was carried at the point of the bayonet, after a most sanguinary conflict. A meeting of the Veterans was held immediately after the battle, and reports submitted as to the result thereof by Comrades Norman M. Smith, W. W. Tyson, Abe Patterson, W. H. Stoughton, Hon. F. H. Collier and others. At twelve o'clock the meeting was dismissed, and the participants betook themselves homeward, all being pleased with the result of their labors.

On the Way to the Centennial for Two Years.

On Saturday a denizen of the Far West made his appearance in the city, having started from California two years ago to attend the Centennial. The old man was in a dilapidated old wagon, drawn by a pair of dilapidated old horses. The wagon was full of skins of different kinds of fur bearing animals, which he had taken on the way. He stated that he had started from California two years ago and had been on the road ever since. He was a hunter and trapper, and he had hunted and trapped along the route, making the journey in easy stages to suit himself. As a result of his two years' journey and labor he had a wagon load of skins, and he was now proceeding to dispose of the same and indulge in a little relaxation by taking in the Centennial.

Preparing for the Election.

Mr. S. L. Gilson, manager of the Western Union Telegraph Office and agent of the Associated Press in this city, has been for several days busily engaged in making preparations for receiving and forwarding election returns on the night of November 7th. To him has been entrusted the duty of collecting the returns from twenty-three counties of Western Pennsylvania, and so extensive and complete are his arrangements that whatever news he may furnish can be relied upon as being about as accurate as can be obtained without an official count. He has transmitted the following letter of instructions to operators in all the Western Union Telegraph offices in his district: "As soon as possible, after the close of the polls, November 7th, procure the full vote of your own and adjacent township, wards or precincts, and telegraph according to this blank. In cases where the full vote cannot be obtained a short message may be sent, giving majorities on the two candidates named. Send no reported gains or losses. Comparisons will be made at Pittsburgh."

Theives in Allegheny.

The theives were working in Allegheny on Saturday evening in full force, and took advantage of the torchlight parade to ply their vocation. At the corner of Chestnut and Ohio streets, a woman was robbed of her pocket book containing a couple of dollars. David Swope, of Millvale, had his silver watch stolen while the procession was passing that point. Achlierbach's saloon on Ohio street, near James street, was entered and the till robbed of its contents. At the corner of Arch street, a Mrs. Karnes had her pocket picked of $8, with which she was on her way to pay her house rent. The window in a confectionery store on Fremont street, above Jackson, was broken and a quantity of cakes and candies carried off. The till in Henry Cables' cigar store on Bidwell street was also robbed of about five dollars. About three o'clock yesterday morning some person broke the window in Schweitzer's meat shop at the corner of Monterey and Jackson streets, but officer Cochran heard the glass rattling on the sidewalk and hastened to the place. The would be theif made his escape in the darkness.

A FIELD DAY.

Two Excellent Trots to Come Off at Friendship Park on Wednesday.

By reference to advertisement in another column it will be seen that the season at Friendship Driving Park is not over. On Wednesday a first-class trot—the best that has taken place yet this season—will come off. The entries are Silversides, Lady H., Slow Go and Lew Scott. The reputation of all these horses is well known, all of them trotting between twenty and thirty, and the purse being for $500, insures a splendid race. The same afternoon Belle Boyd, Igo, Stranger and Bob will try conclusions again. Together the races will make excellent sport, and should attract a large crowd.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

"Brass," a new and popular society play, will be produced to-night for the first time in this city by its author, Mr. George Fawcett Rowe, who will appear in the leading role of Waifton Stray. The remaining characters will be sustained by the members of the Opera House company, Mr. Bock taking that of Markson and Mr. Harris the part of Wyvern. The play has proved successful in every city in which it has been performed. It is replete with humor and happy situations.

Library Hall.

Augusta Dargon commences her engagement at this theater this evening, when she will appear as Mary Tudor in Tennyson's new play of "Queen Mary," from which she read selections at Library Hall during the early part of last winter in fulfillment of an engagement with the Lecture Association. Miss Dargon, whose great ability has always been recognized in this city, as is evidenced by her popularity, is taking front rank as a tragic actress, and is destined to fill the place left vacant by the death of Charlotte Cushman. She will be supported by a first class company.

Stage Notes.

SOTHERN will be at the Opera House next week and Miss Mary Anderson, a young but talented aspirant for dramatic honors, at Library Hall.

MISS JANE COOMBS has joined Daly's Fifth Avenue Theater Company.

A FITTING TESTIMONIAL.

A Magnificent Present for Judge McCandless.

The universal verdict of the practicing lawyers in the Western District of Pennsylvania is that the Hon. Wilson McCandless was a just Judge in the fullest sense of the term. They all felt at the time he retired from the bench that it was becoming in them to tender him a fitting testimonial, expressive of their high regards. A committee was accordingly appointed and assigned the duty of selecting and procuring the same. This committee selected a silver urn, from designs furnished by Tiffany & Co., of New York city. It is wrought of coin silver and weighs three hundred ounces. It is about thirty inches in heighth, and is finished in the rennaissance style, the workmanship being of the hightst order. Some idea ef the elaborateness of the work may be formed from the fact that the workmen have been employed on it for three months.

The base represents a shield supported by fasces. At the foot of the body on one side is an open law book and immediately above it, forming the chief figure, is a perfect likeness of the face of the Judge in profile. On the other side is the figure of Justice, and beneath it, on the body of the urn, the switch of the same goddess. The inscription in plain, simple language will be written on the shield. This master piece is attracting crowds to the window in which it is exhibited in New York, where it is looked upon simply as a work of art. But how much more will it be admired here where Judge McCandless is so well known and so highly esteemed. It is not yet known when it will be forwarded to this city, or when the presentation will take place.

Notice.—For some time past many of our customers have been disappointed in not getting what French bread they wanted at our retail department, No. 18 Fifth avenue. We have increased our facilities and will endeavor hereafter to have a full supply for all.

OBITUARY.

Rev. M. W. Jacobus, D. D., LL. D.

The sudden and unexpected death of Rev. Dr. Jacobus on Saturday morning, is a most melancholy event, one which falls upon the entire community as a sore calamity. Doctor Jacobus has long occupied a very high position in the Presbyterian church, was indeed one of its brightest lights, one of its most revered ministers. He has for many years held and adorned a professorship in the Western Theological Seminary, and although faithfully and ably discharging the duties of his chair, he also continued to labor in the pulpit when physically able to do so. He also made several contributions to the religious literature of his church and country, he was an able and astute controversialist and yet a very model of gentleness, insomuch that he was personally endeared to all who enjoyed his acquaintance. As a husband and loving father he was most tender and loving, abounding in his household as among his friends with the most charming amenities. Thus eminent for his private and social graces he was in the outer world equally so for his zeal, erudition and elcquence. His death will be much and long lamented as an irreparable public and domestic bereavement.

The sad event occurred about 7 o'clock Saturday morning. He had not been complaining of any serious illness, and on Friday attended to his duties as usual, and retired at his regular hour in the evening. He had been suffering somewhat for several days from chronic bronchitis, but did not anticipate a fatal termination of the disease. Between five and six o'clock Saturday morning he was awakened by a feeling of nausea, but got up and attended to the fire in the room, and seated himself by it in his dressing gown. Doctors Rankin and Sutton were sent for, and Mrs. Jacobus prepared for him a warm footbath. Before the arrival of the physicians he breathed his last, sitting in his chair.

From the appendix volume of the Princeton Review the following is obtained.

Dr. Melanchton W. Jacobus was born September 19, 1816, at Newark, N. J. He entered Princeton College (Sophomore class) in his fifteenth year, and was graduated in his eighteenth year with the first honors of the College. After an interval of a year at home he entered the Theological Seminary at Princeton in 1835, and having completed his course, he was invited to remain as an assistant to Professor J. Addison Alexander, in the Hebrew department. He acted in this capacity during an academic year. When the year was drawing to a close, he received a unanimous and urgent call from the First Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn to become its pastor. The church was involved in the struggle which ensued upon the rupture in 1838 in the General Assembly, and it fell to his charge to build it up amidst very peculiar difficulties. He was installed pastor in the fall of 1839. In January, 1840, he was married to the eldest daughter of Samuel Hays, M. D., of Newark, N. J. He labored successfully in Brooklyn during eleven years, in which time the church was well established as one of the most flourishing churches of the Presbytery.

In the Fall of 1850 the health of the pastor broke down under the severe duties of the charge, and the church made liberal provision for releasing him, and supplying his pulpit, for a year's absence in foreign travel. He went with his wife through Europe, into Egypt and Palestine and Syria, to Damascus, returning by Constantinople and Greece, and arrived at home in September, 1851, after a year's journeying among classic and Bible lands, to the great advantage of his health. During his absence, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, at their session in May, 1831, elected him as "Professor of Oriental and Biblical Literature" in the Theological Seminary at Allegheny, Pennsylvania. He was now thirty-six years of age. He entered upon his duties in Allegheny in the opening of the year 1852. He made a second tour of Europe in 1866.

In Brooklyn in 1848 he prepared and published his first volume of "Notes on the New Testament," entitled "Matthew, with the Harmony." This volume was received with so much public favor, and with the Catechetical Question Book accompanying, supplied so important a need, that, in the Professor's chair, with larger and richer materials from Bible lands, where he had made personal observation with advantage, he issued a second volume, "Mark and Luke," in May, 1853.

In 1856 he published a very valuable Commentary on John; and this was followed in 1859 with a still more elaborate Commentary on the Acts of the Apostles. In 1862 the Notes on the Gospels were republished in Edinburgh, Scotland, by Messrs. Oliphant & Son.

In 1864-5, the two volumes on Genesis were issued from the press of the American publishers, the Messrs. Carter, of New York. They evince great labor and research, and in brief space furnish a mass of material. And his special fitness for the latest work, where so many great questions were to be grappled, at the threshold of Divine Revelation, was already indicated by his review of "Bush on Genesis" in the Princeton Review.

In 1852 the degree of D. D. was conferred upon him by Jefferson College, and he was honored with the degree of LL. D. by the College of New Jersey, in 1867. He had the happy distinction of being Moderator of the General Assembly in 1869, the last Assembly of the Old School Church introducing the reunion. He presided in the great Assembly at New York, and at the adjourned Assembly at Pittsburgh, with marked dignity, suavity and success, and was credited with having made most happy and eloquent responses to the several delegations from other bodies, and from the New School Assembly; and he will be remembered not only as presiding with his brother Moderator at the Reunion Jubilee in Pittsburgh, but as most happily introducing the nuptial formula, and appealing to the venerable Dr. Elliott (Moderator at the disruption) if he knew of any reason, just and sufficient, why the parties might not lawfully be united.

He is the author of "Letters to Governor Bigler on the Common School System," in controversy with Bishop O'Connor, of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh; also of a tract on "Universal Salvation," published by the Presbyterian Board of Publication in Philadelphia; also of a public debate with Bishop O'Connor on the "Relations of the Romish Church to Free Institutions," and of a controversy with the Pittsburgh Catholic (the late Rev. Dr. Keogh) on "Indulgences."

In February, 1858, Dr. Jacobus was called to the pastorate of the Central Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh (formerly the Fifth Presbyterian Church, which had been dissolved), and, beginning with a membership of nineteen persons, he gathered around him a flourishing and well-established church. This connection he was compelled some three years ago to dissolve on account of failing health. He went to Southern California, and remained about two years. On his return he resumed his educational and literary laborers, with apparently improved health. He zealously endeavored to create the sustentation fund of the church—for the benefit of clergymen in poor parishes—and met with measurable success. His last public address on this subject was made at the meeting of the Pittsburgh Synod at Shady Side last week.

He was recently requested to act as Secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Education, in Philadelphia, but declined on account of other duties.

ACTION OF THE CENTRAL CHURCH.

At the close of the morning service in the Central Presbyterian church of this city, yesterday, the following committee was appointed to prepare a minute expressive of the sense of the meeting in reference to Dr. Jacobus' death: J. P. Smith, Wm. Lyon, James Atkinson, G. S. Head and J. M. Kennedy.

The committee reported the following paper, which was adopted:

With profound sorrow this congregation has heard of the death of its former pastor, Dr. Melancthon William Jocobus, who died suddenly at his residence in Allegheny City, on the morning of October 28, 1876. And while we bow in submission to the will of "Him who doeth all things well," we desire to pay a proper tribute to the memory of the eminent and beloved deceased.

In the death of Dr. Jacobus the ministry has lost one of its brightest lights, the church one of its boldest and most successful defenders, the family its honored head, and society a devout Christian. His life was an eminently successful one. Graduating at an early age and with high honors at Princeton College, he shortly thereafter entered the Presbyterian Church, and preached and labored in an eastern congregation with great acceptance for many years, and until he was elected Professor in the Western Theological Seminary of our neighboring city of Allegheny. He came amongst us in the maturity and vigor of his full manhood, bringing a ripe scholarship, a mind naturally strong and thoroughly trained by the closest habits of application and study, a thorough knowledge of his profession, and an absolute devotion to the cause in which he was engaged, he filled the position to which he had been chosen with the greatest success and honor, continuously down to the time when he was summoned hence by the Master. In all these years, he was a leader in the Church, as author, teacher and preacher, ever ready to aid and strengthen her friends, and a formidable champion in her defense against the attacks of her foes, the founder of some of her most glorious enterprises, and the sharer of some of the greatest triumphs.

But it is chiefly to him, as pastor of this church and congregation, we would pay our tribute. This position he filled for a period of more than fourteen years, commencing in 1858, and those of us who sat under his ministry can bear loving testimony to the power, the progress, the influence and prosperity of the church during that time. Truly the "Lord did guide him continually," and this his church was "like a watered garden and spring of water, whose waters failed not." During this pastorate he was performing his duties as professor in the seminary and writing those books, which will live after him and be an honor to his name, in guiding and assisting those in search of truth. His life was one of actual, active service in the cause of the Master, his work will testify that he wrought with labor and travail night and day, neither an idler nor drone, setting an example to the rising ministry of earnest and abundant service. He was called away suddenly from the midst of his usefulness and before age had compelled a relaxation from his labors. He continued to love and cherish his association with us until his sudden and lamented death. To us his Christian character was lovely; let his memory be blessed. At the time of his death he had served more years as pastor, with one exception, than any others then living in our two cities. An aged and lamented one having preceded him into the presence of the Master, only a few days, and in almost as sudden and similar manner.

The lives and the deaths of these, who, with others have gone to sit down with the patriarchs in the kingdom of God, are fraught with lessons to us. Let us remember the words of admonition of the lamented dead in his last sermon to us: "The fathers, where are they? and the prophets do they live forever? But our work as a church is not yet done. The field remains and widens as men pass by. Occupy it. God opens a path, but we must do the marching. His path is open only to those who go forward. One step at a time is all that God requires. Near by to Marah are the palm trees and wells of Elim, and just by is the blessed country, and the clusters of Eshcol are there for such, and only such, as will go in and gather them."

To the stricken family we offer our sincere Christian sympathy and condolence in this the sad hour of their bereavement, and direct them to go for comfort to that source to which he, if living, would point them in all their troubles.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Local Political Notes—Meetings in and About the Cities.

THE Republicans of Beaver Valley had a grand demonstration at New Castle Saturday evening. The meeting was one of the largest political gatherings ever held in that locality. Capt. W. S. Shallenberger, Republican candidate for Congress in the Twenty-fourth District and other eminent speakers addressed the meeting.

THE Republican demonstration on the South Side Saturday night, notwithstanding a large number of the marching clubs went to McKeesport, was a complete success. There were over four thousand men in line and the marching was excellent. Many of the dwellings and business houses along the route of procession were handsomely decorated and brilliantly illuminated, and the streets were thronged with men, women and children, who cheered the boys all along the line. Marshal Trautman and his staff were unusually successful in carrying out the programme as previously published. All the South Side clubs, a number from this city, and a good turnout from Allegheny formed the column, which was divided into three divisions.

A LARGE Republican meeting was held at the White House in Perrysville on Friday evening last. Mr. Headly was called to the chair and was assisted by a number of Vice Presidents. G. A. Heidelberg, Esq., was elected Secretary. Addresses were made by Col. T. M. Bayne, John S. Lambie and Hon. John Newmeyer, after which the meeting adjourned with three cheers for the whole ticket.

THE Republican demonstration at Monongahela City, in which the marching clubs of the city are to participate, is to take place on Saturday night next, not on Tuesday, as has been stated. Passenger Agent Ross will furnish special trains on the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston Railroad for all who wish to participate.

THE T. M. Bayne Continental Marching Club, Capt. McCombs, received a warm reception in McKeesport. They led the procession accompanied by the Eighteenth Regiment band, and attracted great attention for their fine marching and gentlemanly behavior.

THERE was a big Republican time at Bellevue Saturday evening. The Sewickley Marching Club, one hundred strong, were on hand, also a city brass band. Hon. B. C. Christy and Joseph M. Gazzam, Esq., were the orators.

THE Democratic turnout in Allegheny Saturday night was in a Democratic way a success. There were just two thousand eight hundred and thirty in line, including music and boys.

A VOTE taken on the First Day Express train east, October 25th, resulted as follows: Hayes, 182; Tilden, 72; Cooper, 6; total, 260. The ladies voted as follows: For Hayes, 79; Tilden, 21; total, 100.

ON last Thursday evening Capt. G. A. McCain, of the Thirty-second ward Republican Pioneer Club, resigned his position as Captain of that organization. Lieut. Bamer was elected to fill the vacancy.

DEMONSTRATION AT SWISSVALE.

The Republicans of Swissvale, Wilkins township, had quite a demonstration on Friday evening, in the shape of a torchlight procession, flag presentation and an enthusiastic meeting. The Wilkinsburg Hayes and Wheeler marching club and drum corps, Capt. McKelvy, and the Swissvale marching club, Capt. Dougherty, were out in full force, and presented a fine appearance. An elegant flag was presented to the Swissvale club by Major John C. Paul, the presentation speech being made by John H. Kerr, Esq., and the response by Mr. D. B. Morrison, followed by three rousing cheers for the donor by the club.

A meeting was then organized, with Mr. Wm. Collinwood as chairman; John McKelvy, John C. Paul, R. E. Sellers, R. S. Ramsey, A. H. Cummins, John Dickson and J. J. Walker as Vice Presidents, and John J. Swisshelm and I. W. McKelvy as Secretaries.

Mr. Kerr then addressed the meeting in an able and lucid argument upon the questions before the people, which was received with hearty applause.

Mr. Aug. Steiner, an influential working man, being present, was called on for a speech, and responded by making a strong appeal to his fellow working men to stand by the Republican ticket, and especially to support the true and tried friends of the working classes, Maj. Russell Errett and John C. Newmyer, Esq.

M'KEESPORT DEMONSTRATION.

The largest demonstration in the county during the present campaign outside of the two cities was that at McKeesport Saturday and Saturday evening. In the morning there was a grand old fashioned procession, in which the farmers and mechanics of the Monongahela valley joined to the number of several thousand. In the afternoon a meeting was held on the Diamond square, which was addressed by Dr. Updegraff, of Ohio, and Thos. M. Marshall, Esq., of this city. Both gentlemen made able and telling speeches, which were attentively listened to, notwithstanding the frequent showers of rain occurring during their delivery. In the evening there was a grand parade of marching clubs, in which a number of clubs from this city participated, and a number of others were prevented from doing so on account of the inability of the B. & O. road to furnish them with transportation. The parade was a fine one, and exceeded in numbers anything of the kind ever held in that town, there being between three and four thousand men in line. Capt. Wash Gray was Chief Marshal of the daylight parade, and John F. Davitt, Esq., commanded the hosts in the evening.

GRAND RALLY AT BAKERSTOWN.

The meeting held last night at this point was large and enthusirstic beyond the expectation of the people themselves. The houses of all the Republicans were brilliantly illuminated and handsomely decorated. Among the houses which should receive special notice we mention those of Rev. W. E. Wade, Dr. Andrew Harper, Dr. J. H. Allen, Rev. J. T. Wright, John Wattrell, Dan Morrow, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Brickell, and many others whose names we could not learn. A torchlight procession with brass band preceded the speaking. The line was composed of the West Deer marching club, Captain Peace, ninety men; Farmer Club, of Richland township, one hundred and twenty-five men; the Middlesex Hayes and Wheeler club, one hundred and thirty men, horsemen sixty and citizens one hundred and eighty, and one hundred and twenty ladies who marched in line and whose appearance created great enthusiasm. After the return of the procession to the front of the postoffice building an audience of from 1,500 to 1,800, coming from Butler and Allegheny counties, were addressed by S. M. Raymond, Esq., and John S. Robb, Esq., of Pittsburgh. The speeches were enthusiastically received and rapturously applauded; the issues of the campaign were discussed in an eloquent and forcible manner, and we predict that old Richland will be in line on November 7th "by a large majority" for the whole ticket.

MEETING AT PINE RUN.

A large and enthusiastic Republican meeting was held at Pine Run on Tuesday evening last. The officers were: President, Henry O'Neill; Vice Presidents, Jack White, J. S. Craft, James Harrison, Wm. Messogney, William Wilson, William McKee, John C. Large, John Shulter and Wm. Ewing; Secretaries, M. E. Lynn and reporters of the press.

Able and interesting addresses were made by Hon. D. W. Fulton and John S. Robb, Esq.

MEETING ON THE PERRYSVILLE ROAD.

A very large meeting was held on Saturday evening at Warren's Hotel, on the Perrysville road, near the Butler county line. Large delegations of farmers from Butler county and the entire north side attended in wagons. There were not less than one thousand people present. Dr. J. L. Davis occupied the chair. Able and convincing addresses were delivered by Hon. John M. Thompson and Hon. J. T. Grier, of Butler, and W. C. Stillwagon, Esq., of this city. The meeting was very enthusiastic, and successful beyond expectation.

We would call attention to the card of Mr. W. A. Arnold, in another column of this paper. Mr. Arnold has had large experience in the furnace business, has held the agency of the Chilson Furnace for 25 years, and first introduced it in this city five years ago. He has already put up some 125 Chilson Furnaces in this city and vicinity, and is now selling Chilson's latest improved Furnace, The Standard of 1876, with Anti-Clinker Grate. Mr. Arnold's standing as a thorough business man, and his skill in the business in which he is engaged, should secure for him a large share of the public patronage.

Court Brevities.

HENRY LINKNER, who is charged with the murder of his partner Schaffer, has retained R. M. Gibson, Esq., to defend him.

AN action was instituted in Common Pleas No. 1 Saturday by Bartholomew Stumpf against Margaret Shoebert, to recover damages in the sum of $1,000 for an alleged slander.

A MRS. MYLER was taken before Judge Ewing Saturday with a view of having her sent to Dixmont, she being insane and at some times exceedingly violent. The papers were not regular and, the Judge on a brief examination of the woman was of the opinion that she was not insane and discharged her. She had scarcely left the court house until she became so violent that it required the combined effort of two strong officers to control her. She was committed to jail and the case will be brought before the court this morning.

NO DECEPTION.

The Most Extensive Clothing Establishment in the City—Full Line of Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods.

There are people who say there are but few points of difference in the various clothing establishments of our cities. They all publish one price for their goods and charge another, when they have induced the customer to give them a call and make purchases. To all such we would say, "Go to Eisner & Phillips' house on Fifth avenue and you can get your ready-made clothing at the very prices they are advertised for." Parties purchasing of them can be assured that they will be treated in the best possible way, and never will be charged more than the regular price, which, by the way, is much lower than the same class of goods are selling for elsewhere. Gentlemen wishing winter clothing, overcoats, &c., cannot do better, or indeed nearly so well, at any place in the two cities as at

EISNER & PHILLIPS',
Fifth avenue, corner Wood street.

REOPENING OF M'CLARREN AND M'KENNAN'S DRUG STORE.

Improvements Since the Fire.

The retail drug store of Messrs. McClarren & McKennan, on Market street, has always enjoyed a widespread popularity, and since it was destroyed by fire some months ago, its loss has been very seriously felt. We are glad to be able to inform our readers that the establishment was opened up for business again this morning. We are also pleased to note a decided improvement in the appearance of the store, the general effect of which is bright and pleasant. We trust that Messrs. McClarran & McKennan may be spared any such calamity in the future, and reap the reward their energy and perseverance, combined with their courteous treatment of their many patrons, so richly deserves.

The Excursionists

The excursion train will take out many this morning who have no definite stopping place in view while visiting the Centennial. They would choose a hotel or boarding house where they would expect to receive a fair share of comforts and conveniences; one that would be no great distance from the grounds, easy of access, with good and substantial edibles and moderate rates of fare. Such an hotel will be found at 1311, 1313 and 1315 Market street, owned and personally superintended by our former townsman, Mr. J. L. Dillinger, who in his remodeling of this hotel has added to it many comforts, and who takes a pride in his endeavors to make his guests feel at home while sojourning under his roof. His clerks and attendants are courteous and obliging, his table well supplied with an abundance of the good things of this life, his rooms large and comfortable, and his rates the most reasonable to be found in the city.

····Mrs. Van Cott, the great revivalist, still continues her labors at the Butler street M. E. church. She has now been engaged for several weeks, holding meetings from two to three times a day, and still shows no signs of exhaustion. On the 7th prox. she commences a season of revival work in New York.

····John Matthews and John E. Spalding, residents of the Seventeenth ward, returned on Friday from the Black Hills, where they had been since last spring. They got some gold while there, and brought home with them many specimens of quartz and other articles. They say the Black Hills country is not so black as it has been painted.

····Yesterday being the Sunday nearest the 31st of October, special services were held in the Lutheran and many other Protestant churches, in commemoration of the day when Martin Luther nailed the 95th theses against the door of the church at Wurtemberg. To-morrow is the 359th anniversary of that event, and will be more than usually celebrated.

····Mr. Falkenbrezen, who occupied a house in Stowe township belonging to John McElroy, seems to have incurred the direct displeasure of the fire fiend. Last Wednesday night his house was burned down. What property he was able to save was placed in the barn. On Friday night the barn caught fire and was totally destroyed, the unfortunate man barely making his escape.

····A man named Miner, a book dealer, of Northampton, Mass., was killed at Conemaugh on Friday by falling under the wheels of the Pacific Express. He was standing on the platform of one of the cars, and it is supposed was jostled off. He was terribly mutilated, one arm and one leg being almost completely severed. The remains were taken to Northampton for burial.

····Many of those who subscribed for the illustrated history of Allegheny County have refused to take it, claiming that it is not what it represented to be "by a long sight." The publishers have entered suits against all who object to paying for it on delivery. Those who feel that they have been humbugged have agreed among themselves to stand by each other and have the matter tested in Court.

····A lively row occurred on Webster street Saturday night, between a couple of colored women. One of them was exercising the maternal prerogative of basting one of her progeny, when her aunt came in and demanded a truce. She intimated to the old lady that she could "lick" her likewise, whereupon, it is alleged, that the old lady grabbed up a shovel and laid the young woman out, leaving several scars and bruises on her face. Thus was the licker licked.

····The alarm, at 8 o'clock last evening was occasioned by the burning of a chimney in a house near the Clinton Mills, owned by Mr. Robert Marshall. Chief White was very much out of humor at having three engines and hose carriages called out on account of a burning chimney on such a night as last night was. He thinks persons having keys should exercise more discretion and better judgment, and not call the department out unnecessarily.

····Mike Bradford, a well known character, was stabbed in the back on Saturday night, it is believed at the corner of Webster avenue and High street. When discovered by the officer he refused to tell how he received the injuries, but he had been observed a short time before standing at the corner named, in company with another man and two women. The wound is a serious one, and will require careful attention.

····When they get up a fist fight in the Oil regions they do the thing in earnest. In a fight at Elk City the other day, between two men named Coyle and Nesbit, the former had the end of his nose bitten off, both eyes badly hurt, so that he may lose both, and one ear bitten nearly off, besides receiving other injuries. Nesbit had one finger bitten off. The Derrick says: "The parties fought like enraged tigers, and were surrounded by a large crowd, whose shouts were loud and long."

····Mrs. Tyson, living near Sharpsburg, met with a serious accident while coming to market on Friday morning last. She was in company with her brother-in-law, in a two horse wagon, and just after crossing the Sharpsburg bridge the fore wheels of the wagon struck something in the road, causing such a sudden jolt that both were thrown out. The wagon passed directly over Mrs. Tyson's breast, inflicting severe injuries. She was taken to the house of Mr. Costello, where a physician was called to attend her. Her injuries are not thought to be of a fatal character.

····Game must be plenty in Washington county. Last week Mr. John Robinson, Capt. Robert Craig and Mr. James McCleary, of this city, went out and were gone two days and a half. Mr. Robinson shot 68 squirrels, 15 partridges, two pheasants and two rabbits. Captain Craig, 52 squirrels, 3 partridges and 1 pheasant, and McCleary, 31 squirrels, two partridges and 1 pheasant. Dr. L. M. Schnatterly and Wm. Rogers, Esq., were up in Fayette county eight days and bagged 527 quails, 56 rabbits, 47 pheasants, 34 squirrels, 13 woodcocks, 1 wild turkey, a six feet winged owl, (hoo hoo,) and a black snake six feet seven inches long.

PERSONAL.

Scharff is at the Centennial, the guest of one of the boat clubs of that city.

Captain Edward Evans, who was for many years engaged in the steamboat business, and was well known in this city and down the river, died very suddenly on Saturday. He was on his way to the city from his residence in Union township, when he was attacked with illness and died in a few moments. The last boat he commanded was the Exchange.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

A MAN named Gallinger, while playing pool in the saloon No. 497 Penn avenue, Saturday night, had his overcoat stolen.

A JUG of molasses was found in a private alley, between Sixth avnnue and Virgin alley, Saturday night by the police. It is at the Central Station.

THERE were nineteen common cases at the Mayor's hearing yesterday morning. There was only one Workhouse case, Mary White being sent up for sixty days for vagrancy.

ADOLPH LOECHNER was arrested on a warrant issued by Alderman Hoerr, on oath of Henry Rossman, charging him with felonious cutting. He alleges that the accused and his step-son, Theo. Necher, got into a quarrel, when the former cut him on the head with a knife. Loechner denies using a knife, and says that he pushed Necher who fell and cut his head on a piece of iron. He will have a hearing Thursday.

UNION BROOM FACTORY.

Largest Enterprise of the Kind in the Country—Employ Nearly One Hundred Men—Capacity Two Hundred Dozen Per Day.

The following appeared in the Chronicle of last Friday: We have just received a very handsome circular issued by Messrs. Lang & Co., proprietors of the "UNION BROOM FACTORY," giving prices of the various grades of their well known "Union Brands;" also calling attention to their facilities for manufacturing. We must confess our astonishment, in learning of the presence of such an immense establishment in our midst. It is true, we have very frequently heard of the "Union Broom Factory," and see the brooms wherever we go, but had no idea it was the largest factory of the kind in the United States, and that its product is largely shipped to eastern cities, and even to Europe, but such is the fact.

We learned by further inquiry that they employ nearly one hundred men, and have facilities for manufacturing 200 dozen brooms per day; that they make nine different kinds of large brooms, and from three to six sizes of each kind, besides many varieties of whisk and hearth brushes for the regular trade; in addition to this they take orders for any special kinds that may be wanted.

The proprietors have spared no expense in securing the latest improvements in machinery of all kinds, and in addition have a steam drying house, where the handles are perfectly seasoned before using, and where all brooms, after being made, are thoroughly dried, thus preventing the corn from getting moldy or becoming loose on the handle. One would hardly believe the vast amount of material used in a factory this size. Over eight hundred thousand pounds of broom corn, five hundred thousand handles, twenty-five thousand pounds wire, and twelve thousand pounds of twine are made into brooms every year. All this material is bought from first hands, and selected with the greatest care. Nothing of an inferior quality is allowed to be used even in the cheapest brooms; and we believe that it is owing as much to the great care exercised in the selection of material as to the fact of superior workmanship that they now have the well-earned reputation of making the best brooms offered to the trade.

Messrs. P. Duff & Sons, 329 and 331 Penn avenue, are the wholesale agents for the product of the Union Factory. In conversation with these gentlemen, we learn that the demand is very good, and that they are now negotiating with South American merchants for the shipment of some thousands of dozens to that country—one of the beneficial results, we suppose, of the Centennial Exhibition.

BIG GUNS IN THE CITY.

General Harrison all Right for a Rousing Meeting To-night.

General Harrison, of Indiana, arrived in the city on Saturday, but owing to indisposition he did not participate in any of the meetings held on that night. Yesterday he was feeling in good condition, and our citizens may expect to hear one of the finest speeches of the campaign this evening, at the Academy of Music. In regard to the forthcoming result in Indiana he says there are good reasons for believing that the State will give a Republican majority. His reasons for this conclusion are that the Cooper element is weakening, which is favorable to the Republicans, and that a great many of the imported voters have left the State. While there is not as much noise being made as was previous to the late election, there is fully as much effective work being done.

Judge Curry, also of Indiana, who has been doing good service in this State, was in company with General Harrison at the Monongahela House, and expressed great confidence in Hayes carrying the State. Judge Curry spoke in Butler on Saturday evening, where he had a magnificent hearing. He left for Indiana yesterday evening.

Dr. J. T. Updegraff, of Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, who has been doing such efficient service in this State, was in the city yesterday. This morning he left for Clarion county, where he is advertised to address a grand mass meeting to-night. It is to be regretted that he could not remain to take part in the Academy of Music meeting. He is among the most finished and agreeable speakers who have visited the State.

The meeting to-night will no doubt be one of the largest and most interesting of the campaign. General Harrison is a finished scholar, a fine lawyer, and an excellent speaker. His record is such that the Democrats of Indiana, although driven to desperation, were unable to pick a flaw in it. Wherever he speaks he gives the people something to reflect upon, states facts so plainly that any one can understand them, and can come as near convincing a Democrat of his error as is possible.

S. REED JOHNSON.

Wood Street, Corner of Liberty.

In mentioning the large establishment and elegant work done by S. Reed Johnson, in the way of printing, it is our pleasure to direct the attention of our readers to the beautiful calendars just out for the month of November; one, a card of perhaps eight inches square, the figures denoting the days printed in black, except the Sundays, which are in red, on a ground work of soft, delicate tinge of brown, all surrounded by a narrow stripe of green, the shades of the different colors all selected to blend harmoniously; the other, a card of four inches long by about three wide, differing from the larger one in that the ground work is a lovely shade of red.

Mr. Johnson originated the peculiar manner of dividing the columns and figures by white lines, instead of the imperfect black lines, as in using what printers style "brass rule."

The work of this house is excelled by no other in the city, and a complete stock of stationery and blank books constantly on hand, at

S. REED JOHNSON'S,
Wood street, near Liberty.

"Oh, what a rogue and peasant slave am I," says HAMLET in one of his most famous soliloquies. He was right. He never heard of B. T. BABBITT'S Best Soap. Let the free-born American take notice and avoid his mistakes.

ALLEGHENY NEWS.

····There were five funerals on Federal street at one time yesterday afternoon.

····The Allegheny police authorities were yesterday notified that a whole family, consisting of husband, wife, and five children, named Smith, who reside on First alley, were all down with the small-pox, and had neither physician or nurse. Dr. Cole was notified.

We have several times called attention this Fall to the large and varied assortment of Druggets and Feltings now on sale at Messrs. Oliver McClintock & Co.'s, 33 Fifth avenue, and now would again urge our housekeeping friends to prepare for the disagreeable weather that is in store for us, by suitably protecting their carpets with this serviceable and popular covering. The stock shown by Messrs. McClintock embraces all the various sized squares and different width piece goods manufactured, and the patterns have been carefully selected with a view to the particular needs of our soft coal burning community. The late improvements in the manufacture and coloring of these goods have been so decided, and the decline in wool the past season has so reduced their cost, that no housekeeper is justified in exposing her carpets to the soiling influence of our winters when they can be handsomely protected at such a slight expense. Early purchasers have the advantage of an unbroken assortment in making their selections. Remember the place, No. 33 Fifth avenue.
